Karnataka state eyes balanced growth through infrastructure, investment and talent beyond Bengaluru, says Chief Minister D. K. Shivakumar

BENGALURU

Chief Minister D. K. Shivakumar on Wednesday unveiled the government's "Beyond Bengaluru" vision, announcing plans to create more growth centres across Karnataka by extending Bengaluru-like infrastructure and business opportunities to Tier-2 and Tier-3 cities.

Addressing Global Capability Centre (GCC) leaders at the Target India programme in Manyata Tech Park, Shivakumar said the government would encourage industries to expand beyond Bengaluru by offering lower land costs and double Floor Area Ratio (FAR) in emerging cities.

He said Karnataka remains a preferred investment destination due to its skilled workforce, quality education and research ecosystem. "You are our partners in Karnataka's progress. If you grow stronger, the state becomes stronger. Together, we are Team Karnataka," he said.

Election Commission alone oversees SIR exercise; government merely provides staff, says Deputy CM

STATE HAS NO ROLE IN SIR PROCESS, SAYS PARAMESHWARA

TUMAKURU

Deputy Chief Minister G. Parameshwara on Wednesday clarified that the Karnataka government has no role in the ongoing Special Intensive Revision (SIR) of electoral rolls, asserting that the exercise is being conducted entirely under the supervision of the Election Commission of India.

He said the state government had only provided personnel as requested by the Election Commission and had not issued any directions regarding the revision process. "The SIR exercise is being carried out according to the Commission's guidelines. If rules are violated anywhere, it is for the Election Commission to investigate and take action," he said.

Parameshwara explained that Booth Level Officers (BLOs) are responsible for distributing enumeration forms through door-to-door visits and collecting the completed forms from voters. If BLOs are found distributing forms from a fixed location instead of visiting households, it would amount to a procedural lapse, he added.

Responding to allegations raised by the BJP, the Deputy Chief Minister said any complaints regarding irregularities should be addressed by the Election Commission. He also urged BJP leaders to examine how similar SIR exercises had been conducted in other states before criticising the Karnataka government.

On reports that SIR forms were being filled inside mosques in Tumakuru, he reiterated that the matter fell within the Election Commission's jurisdiction.

Parameshwara also said elections to gram panchayats and zilla panchayats would be conducted at an appropriate time, echoing Chief Minister D. K. Shivakumar's recent assurance.

Vijayendra slams Cong over demand for PM's resignation in Ram temple case

BENGALURU

Karnataka BJP president B.Y. Vijayendra on Wednesday accused the Congress of practising "habitual hypocrisy" after the party demanded Prime Minister Narendra Modi's resignation over the alleged embezzlement of donations at the Ram temple in Ayodhya.

Reacting to a resolution passed by the Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee (KPCC), Vijayendra termed the demand "political drama" and questioned why senior Congress leaders Sonia Gandhi and Rahul Gandhi continued to hold key positions despite being named in the National Herald case.

He asserted that the Congress was attempting to divert attention from corruption allegations involving the MUDA and Valmiki cases in Karnataka. Vijayendra also praised Uttar Pradesh Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath for ordering an investigation into the alleged Ram temple donation theft, saying it reflected a government with "nothing to hide."

The Congress, however, has sought a CBI probe into the alleged embezzlement of tem-

Waive farm loans up to ₹50,000: Ashoka urges govt

BENGALURU

Opposition leader R Ashoka has urged the state government to immediately announce a loan waiver of up to ₹50,000 for farmers affected by drought and floods, along with emergency relief measures.

In a letter to Chief Minister D K Shivakumar, Ashoka said several districts were battling severe drought, while North Karnataka and Malnad regions faced flood threats due to heavy rains. He said lakhs of farmers, agricultural workers and rural families were struggling and needed urgent assistance.

Referring to the Chief Minister's statement on examining farm loan waivers, Ashoka said farmers could not wait for further reviews and demanded immediate action.

He criticised the KPCC resolution seeking ₹10,000 crore drought relief from the Centre, calling it politically motivated. Ashoka alleged that the state government was trying to hide administrative failures instead of focusing on relief work.

16 feared trapped as waste mound collapses building in Pune

PUNE

All 16 employees believed to be inside the building are feared trapped. Authorities are monitoring the situation closely.

Key accused killed in Baruipur rape-murder case encounter

KOLKATA

A prime accused in the rape and murder of a 12-year-old girl in West Bengal's Baruipur was killed in a police encounter early on Wednesday, days after the crime triggered protests and violence in the area.

Prabhas Mondal was taken to Suryapur by a Baruipur Police team around midnight for crime scene reconstruction when, police said, he allegedly snatched a policeman's weapon, fired at the team and tried to escape. In retaliatory firing, Mondal sustained injuries and was declared dead at Baruipur Hospital.

Baruipur SP Palash Chandra Dhali said Mondal had been seen with the victim earlier and his statement helped police arrest other accused. Investigators alleged that the girl was abducted, sexually assaulted and later thrown into the pond.

Violence erupted after the body was recovered, with mobs attacking police personnel, damaging vehicles and blocking roads and railway tracks. One person was lynched during the unrest.

Chief Minister Suwendu Adhikari met the victim's family and assured strict action. The accused have been booked under the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita and Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act.

IIM Bangalore to launch first overseas campus in Indonesia

CH NEWS, BENGALURU

The Indian Institute of Management Bangalore (IIM-B) will establish its first overseas campus in Indonesia, marking a significant milestone in the institute's global expansion and India's growing educational engagement with Southeast Asia. Following Prime Minister Narendra Modi's announcement during his visit to Jakarta, IIM-B said the proposed IIMB (Singhasari) campus would be launched in two phases. The first phase will focus on short-duration executive education programmes for senior executives and professionals, while the second phase will introduce full-fledged degree programmes.

Two-phase expansion will begin with executive education, strengthening India-ASEAN academic and leadership ties.

According to the institute, the executive courses will cover core management disciplines alongside emerging areas such as artificial intelligence, digital transformation, global supply chains, climate and sustainability, and healthcare management. The Indonesia campus will also provide learners access to IIM-B's extensive repository of Massive Open Online Courses (MOOCs), complementing classroom instruction. IIM-B serves as the nodal agency for management education under the Government of India's SWAYAM online learning platform. Beyond academics, the campus aims to strengthen research collaborations, faculty development, consulting projects, student exchanges, policy partnerships and industry linkages across Indonesia and the wider ASEAN region. "IIMB acknowledges the support extended by the Governments of India and Indonesia in facilitating the establishment of the campus," the institute said in a statement. The announcement follows Prime Minister Narendra Modi's joint media interaction with Indonesian President Prabowo Subianto in Jakarta, where he said the new campus would benefit students and professionals across the ASEAN region by expanding access to quality management education. The campus will be established at the Singhasari Special Economic Zone (SEZ) under a memorandum of understanding signed on July 6 between IIM-B and the Singhasari SEZ at Indonesia's Coordinating Ministry for Economic Affairs. The agreement was signed by Director-in-Charge Prof U. Dinesh Kumar and Prof Jitamitra Desai on behalf of IIM-B. Prof Dinesh Kumar said the partnership would nurture a new generation of business leaders capable of leading organisations in Indonesia as well as multinational corporations across the world. Three cab drivers arrested after violent road-rage attack on Mysuru highway

Three Bengaluru-based cab drivers have been arrested for allegedly assaulting a 37-year-old motorist with a metal rod following a road-rage incident on the Bengaluru-Mysuru Highway near Maddur in Mandya district. Police identified the arrested men as Santosh Kumar (36), Arun Kumar (28) and D. Abhishek (27), all residents of AGS Layout in Bengaluru. Efforts are on to trace two other suspects believed to have participated in the attack. According to police, the victim, M. Sagar Kumar of Attiguppe near Vijayanagar, was returning to Bengaluru with his wife, mother-in-law and grandnephew after attending his nephew's naming ceremony in Mysuru on the night of July 5. The incident reportedly began near the Gananguru toll plaza close to the Pandavapura junction, where the accused's vehicle allegedly grazed Sagar's car. A heated argument followed but was later settled, and both parties resumed their journey towards Bengaluru. However, Sagar alleged that the accused continued following his vehicle. Around 10 pm, on the Maddur flyover, two cars intercepted his vehicle and blocked its path. "They damaged my vehicle and abused me. When I tried to resist, one of them hit me on the head with a jack rod," Sagar said in his complaint. The women travelling with him pleaded with the attackers to stop the assault before the group allegedly threatened the family and fled the scene. Sagar was admitted to the Maddur Government Hospital for treatment before lodging a police complaint the same night. Investigators examined footage from the victim's dashboard camera, which helped reconstruct the sequence of events. Police also relied on the registration numbers of the accused's vehicles mentioned in the complaint to trace the suspects.

HC denies bail to doctor accused of murdering wife with overdose

CH NEWS, BENGALURU

The Karnataka High Court has rejected the bail petition of gastro-surgeon Dr Mahendra Reddy, who is accused of murdering his wife, Dr Kruthika Reddy, by administering a fatal overdose of the anaesthetic drug Propofol. The case surfaced in October last year, nearly six months after Dr Kruthika's death in April 2025, following a forensic examination that detected traces of an overdose of anaesthesia in her organs. Based on the findings, police arrested Dr Reddy, who has remained in judicial custody at the Bengaluru Central Prison since then. His earlier bail applications before lower courts had also been rejected. On July 3, the investigating team filed an additional chargesheet before the trial court, placing fresh evidence gathered during the investigation. Special Public Prosecutor P. Prasanna Kumar submitted that investigators had collected substantial material indicating that the victim was allegedly administered 20 ml of Propofol through an intravenous (IV) line, leading to her death. A crucial piece of evidence cited by the prosecution was the accused's internet activity shortly before his arrest. According to the prosecution, eight days before he was taken into custody, Dr Reddy searched for and saved an article titled "Postmortem Propofol Levels: A Case of Residual Detection Long After Administration" on his mobile phone. The search history was recovered by the Forensic Science Laboratory (FSL) during examination of the device. The prosecution argued that, being an experienced surgeon, Dr Reddy was aware that Propofol has a short half-life of two to four minutes and a terminal phase of three to 12 hours. His search for information on whether the drug could still be detected long after administration suggested an attempt to understand the forensic implications of its use. Considering the material placed before it, the High Court found no grounds to grant bail and allowed the criminal proceedings against the accused to continue.

SETBACK FOR FORMER MLA

HC refuses to quash land-grab probe against former MLA, ex-official

CH NEWS, BENGALURU

The Karnataka High Court has refused to quash criminal proceedings against former Chintamani MLA Chowda Reddy and former Chintamani Town Municipal Council Commissioner B.H. Narayanappa in an alleged govt land-grabbing case, holding that a thorough investigation is essential in the interest of justice. Dismissing separate petitions filed by the accused, Justice M. Nagaprasanna observed that allegations involving public representatives and government officials warranted a full-fledged probe, particularly when they relate to the alleged misuse of public property. "Land grabbing by ordinary citizens is a serious illegality. Land grabbing by those clothed with political power strikes at something far deeper—it erodes public faith in governance itself. When custodians of public trust become beneficiaries of alleged public wrongs, this court cannot permit investigation to be throttled at its inception," the judge observed. The court further noted that halting the investigation at this stage would amount to preventing the truth from emerging. The case originates from a complaint lodged with the Lokayukta police on April 24, 2016, by R. Venkataramana. The complainant alleged that 1 acre and 19 guntas of government kharab land in Kannampalli village of Chintamani taluk had been illegally encroached upon by M.C. Balaji and M.C. Sudhakar, sons of Chowda Reddy. According to the complaint, the land was converted into residential sites and sold with the assistance of their father, while

Narayanappa allegedly facilitated the mutation of government land records in their favour during his tenure as municipal commissioner. Reddy argued before the court that neither he nor his sons were MLAs when the complaint was filed and claimed the proceedings were politically motivated. Narayanappa, meanwhile, contended that he had no role in the alleged transactions, stating he had served in the municipality much earlier and retired in 2020. After examining the records, Justice Nagaprasanna noted that a survey sketch in dictated that 37 residential sites had allegedly been carved out on government land that was shown in the names of Reddy and his sons. The court also expressed concern that although the available material prima facie suggested Balaji and Sudhakar were direct beneficiaries, they had not been named as accused in the case. Observing that this aspect could be examined during the investigation, the court held that the allegations disclosed cognisable offences and that the probe must continue unhindered.

Massive plantation drive hits hurdle as saplings wither across BDA sites

Delayed monsoon and maintenance gaps threaten survival of thousands of newly planted saplings statewide.

CH NEWS, BENGALURU

Barely two weeks after the Bangalore Development Authority's (BDA) mega plantation drive on June 27, concerns have emerged over the survival of thousands of saplings, with many already showing signs of withering at several plantation sites across the city. A visit to plantation sites at Byalakere, Medi Aghara and Guni Aghara in Dr Shivaram Karanth Layout revealed numerous saplings either dried up or in poor condition. At Medi Aghara, workers were seen watering plants using tankers, while hundreds of saplings remained unplanted along a stormwater drain near one of the plantation sites, raising questions over planning and post-plantation management. Workers at the Byalakere site said NGOs associated with the drive were facing difficulties in arranging water tankers to keep the newly planted saplings alive amid inadequate rainfall. Sanjay Belawal of Belawal Foundation, one of the NGO partners involved in the drive at Dr Shivaram Karanth Layout, attributed the problem largely to the delayed monsoon. "The plantation was planned with the expectation of timely rains. No matter how much we water the plants, we cannot compete with nature. Had the monsoon arrived on schedule, the situation would have been very different," he said. The foundation supervised the planting of nearly 18,000 saplings over three acres and has been entrusted with maintaining them for the next three years. Belawal said the expected survival rate for such plantations is between 70 and 80 per cent. Besides providing land and saplings, the BDA has also arranged a borewell to support irrigation. Another NGO partner, Say-Trees, said it had planted more than 3.3 lakh native saplings across Dr Shivaram Karanth Layout and Banashankari 6th Stage. According to the organisation, all major plantation sites have fixed irrigation pipelines supported by dedicated borewells, while smaller locations are being watered through tankers. More than 10 gardeners have been deployed for maintenance over the next three years. BDA Deputy Conservator of Forests G.S. Charan acknowledged that insufficient rainfall had affected the plantations and admitted there had been some lapses in maintenance. "We are launching a dedicated monitoring portal that will be integrated with the plantation registration system to track maintenance activities. Around 60 to 80 per cent of the saplings with withered leaves can still recover with proper care. We will review their condition after a month, and those that cannot be revived will be replaced," he said. The condition of the plantations has highlighted the importance of sustained maintenance, timely irrigation and close monitoring to ensure the success of Bengaluru's ambitious greening initiative.

Karnataka sees sharp fall in zero-enrolment schools

CH NEWS, BENGALURU

Karnataka has recorded a significant decline in the number of zero-enrolment schools, with institutions reporting no students dropping from 270 last year to 104 in 2025-26, marking a 61 per cent reduction. The latest figures, released under the Unified District Information System for Education (UDISE) 2025-26, mirror a similar national trend of improving enrolment patterns. The number of teachers posted in these zero-enrolment schools has also reduced sharply, from 308 to just 66. Across the country, the number of such schools has fallen by around 29 per cent, while single-teacher schools have declined by nearly 3 per cent during the same period. Education department officials, however, cautioned that the figures include both government and private institutions and should be interpreted accordingly. Karnataka's government schools reduced from 48,844 to 48,527 during the year, while the number of unaided private schools increased by 246 to 19,351. Aided schools declined by 207, taking the total number of schools in the state down by 281 to 74,578. Overall student enrolment also fell by more than 66,000, a trend experts attribute largely to declining birth rates. Despite this, the Gross Enrolment Ratio (GER) at the higher secondary level improved from 61 to 64, indicating better retention of students beyond secondary education. At the primary level, the GER dipped marginally from 105 to 103, while enrolment indicators for Classes VI to X remained stable. The report also highlights steady improvements in digital infrastructure across schools. The number of schools equipped with computers increased from 41,662 to 43,281, while institutions with internet connectivity rose by 645 to reach 38,584. Officials said the expansion reflects continued efforts to strengthen technology-enabled learning and improve access to digital educational resources. Teacher strength in the state increased from 4,52,602 to 4,64,814 during the year. However, the growth came primarily in the private sector, while government and aided schools witnessed a decline in staffing. The state's pupil-teacher ratio improved from 26 to 25, indicating a marginal improvement in classroom availability despite falling enrolment.

Capgemini blames daycare operator, files complaint over alleged abuse of toddlers

CH NEWS, BENGALURU

More than a week after allegations of abuse at a daycare centre operating on its Bengaluru campus surfaced, IT major Capgemini has lodged a formal complaint with the HAL police, accusing the third-party service provider and its employees of serious offences involving the physical and mental abuse of children. In its complaint, the company has named Little Scholars, which managed the daycare facility, alleging that its partners, directors, promoters and staff subjected toddlers to harassment, torture, physical assault and emotional abuse while entrusted with their care. Capgemini has sought criminal action against those responsible under the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita (BNS) and the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015. Police said the company's complaint would be incorporated into the FIR already registered in the case and form part of the ongoing investigation. According to the complaint, the children were allegedly subjected to physical assault, mental harassment, forcible disciplining, rough handling and emotional distress. The company also alleged that toddlers were locked inside rooms or toilets, had water poured on them, and were subjected to unauthorised videography inside washrooms. "The alleged acts disclose coordinated misconduct on the part of the nannies and other employees of Little Scholars. The children suffered physical pain and emotional trauma while under their care," the complaint stated. Capgemini further alleged that the employees acted deliberately, causing harm to toddlers in an attempt to enforce discipline and restricting their movement by confining them in enclosed spaces. Bengaluru Police Commissioner Seemanth Kumar Singh said investigators would examine every aspect of the case and assured that no one found responsible would be spared. Commenting on the investigation, Singh said the police were also probing the role of Sujatha, the woman who recorded videos exposing the alleged abuse. He alleged that she was not merely a whistleblower but had been part of the events at the daycare and had "stage-managed" the recordings, leading to her arrest. "There was certainly something wrong in the functioning of the daycare centre. As the investigation progresses, we will determine what exactly happened and why," he said. Police have so far questioned a nanny and one of Sujatha's associates. Investigators said the nanny had assisted Sujatha in recording videos and her statement would be crucial in establishing the sequence of events. The associate, who reportedly shared the videos with child helpline authorities, has also been questioned.

Waterlogging, mud worsen Santhekatte underpass woes

Udupi
Commuters at Santhekatte in Udupi are facing difficulties due to poor road conditions, waterlogging and inadequate maintenance of service roads. The newly constructed underpass has developed potholes, while muddy water splashes from heavy vehicles have stained its walls during rainfall. Poor drainage has led to water accumulation near the road divider, with plastic waste adding to the problem. Residents and social worker Nityananda Volakadu have urged authorities to complete pending works, repair potholes, restore streetlights and improve drainage. The incomplete service road, uneven surfaces and slippery muddy stretches have increased risks for motorists, especially two-wheeler riders during rainy conditions.

Mangaluru Corporation's birth and death certificate services halted, causing public inconvenience; Vedavyasa Kamath urges immediate action to restore operations

MANGALURU

The process of issuing birth and death certificates at the Mangaluru City Corporation has reportedly come to a halt, causing inconvenience to citizens seeking these essential documents. Vedavyasa Kamath has raised concerns over the disruption and urged authorities to take immediate steps to restore the service. Birth and death certificates are among the most important civic documents required for various government and private purposes, including education, employment, property matters, insurance, and legal procedures. Any delay in issuing these certificates can create difficulties for residents and affect timely completion of official work. Kamath questioned the reasons behind the stoppage of the certificate issuance process and said that the civic body must ensure uninterrupted delivery of essential public services. He urged the officials concerned to resolve administrative or technical issues immediately and clear pending applications without further delay. The suspension of such a key service has raised concerns among residents who depend on the municipal corporation for timely documentation. Citizens have reportedly been facing difficulties due to the inability to obtain certificates within the expected timeframe. The birth and death registration system is an important responsibility of urban local bodies, and efficient functioning of the process reflects the effectiveness of public administration. With increasing dependence on digital governance services, officials are expected to maintain reliable systems and ensure that technical issues do not disrupt essential services. Kamath stressed that the corporation should strengthen its service delivery mechanisms and implement measures to prevent similar disruptions in the future. He called for better coordination among departments and prompt action to ensure that citizens do not face unnecessary hardships. The issue highlights the importance of maintaining smooth civic services in rapidly growing urban centres. Residents have urged the Mangaluru City Corporation to restore the certificate process at the earliest and provide a transparent mechanism for tracking applications and resolving pending cases.

Heavy rains disrupt traffic on Charmadi Ghat road

KOTTIGEHAARA

Heavy winds and rainfall disrupted traffic movement on the Charmadi Ghat stretch after stones and trees fell onto the road, causing inconvenience to commuters travelling between Dakshina Kannada and Chikkamagaluru districts. The sudden weather disturbance led to obstacles on the highway, affecting the smooth flow of vehicles through the ghat section. Road users faced difficulties as fallen trees and debris blocked parts of the roadway, slowing down traffic movement. The Charmadi Ghat is a crucial route connecting the coastal and Malnad regions of Karnataka and witnesses heavy vehicle and passenger movement every day. During the monsoon season, the area is prone to landslides, falling trees, and road blockages due to continuous rainfall and strong winds. Following the incident, efforts were initiated to clear the fallen trees and remove stones from the road to restore normal traffic. Authorities and road maintenance teams worked to ensure that commuters could travel safely through the affected stretch. Lokayukta raids forest officer over disproportionate assets case

SHIVAMOGGA

Karnataka Lokayukta officials conducted searches at the residence and office of Assistant Conservator of Forests (ACF) Kiran Angadi in Shivamogga on Wednesday in connection with a disproportionate assets case. The raids were carried out as part of an investigation into allegations that the officer had accumulated assets beyond his known sources of income. Lokayukta teams inspected the premises and collected documents and other materials considered relevant to the inquiry. The searches are part of the anti-corruption agency's efforts to verify complaints against public servants and examine possible violations related to financial irregularities. Officials reportedly examined records connected with property, financial transactions, and other assets during the operation. The Karnataka Lokayukta conducts such investigations to establish whether public officials have acquired wealth disproportionate to their legitimate earnings. The evidence collected during searches is analysed before further legal action is considered. The operation created attention in Shivamogga as it involved a senior officer from the Forest Department. The authorities have not disclosed detailed information about the findings of the searches or the value of assets examined during the investigation. Lokayukta officials are expected to review the documents and information gathered during the raids before deciding on the next course of action. Further proceedings will depend on the outcome of the verification process and the evidence available with the investigating agency. Disproportionate assets investigations are generally conducted after receiving complaints or information regarding suspected financial misconduct by public servants. The process includes collecting evidence, verifying income sources, and assessing whether assets can be justified through legal earnings. The Lokayukta has main-

KPCC leader Srinivas says SIR awareness worries BJP

CH NEWS, Shivamogga

Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee (KPCC) Backward Classes Department president and Legislative Council Member D. T. Srinivas said the growing awareness around the Special Intensive Revision (SIR) of electoral rolls has created concern within the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP). Speaking to reporters after a review meeting of the Backward Classes Department's SIR activities at the Tourist Lodge in Shivamogga, Srinivas said the voter list revision process is progressing rapidly across the state. He credited the efforts of the party's Booth Level Agents (BLAs) for helping create awareness and support the process. Srinivas said nine days have passed since the revision exercise began and that the meeting was organised to review the progress in Shiva-mogga district. He claimed that awareness programmes in the district have been conducted successfully. He alleged that the SIR process was initiated by the BJP, but some BJP leaders have now started opposing it after seeing its implementation in Karnataka. According to him, the party is worried that an effective voter list revision process could benefit the Congress. Srinivas acknowledged that some shortcomings exist in the revision process but said Congress workers are prepared to address issues. He added that booth-level committees have been formed by the Backward Classes Department to assist in the process and ensure that no eligible voter is removed from the electoral rolls. He said these committees will include at least three women members and a total of 11 or more members who will work indirectly in supporting the SIR exercise. Srinivas said the process is being carried out on a large scale across Karnataka. While rural areas may not face major difficulties, urban areas, especially municipal corporation limits, could present some challenges. He also claimed that BJP leaders are concerned about several Bengaluru constituencies due to increased voter awareness. He said further large-scale awareness meetings will be organised in Shivamogga to educate people about the SIR process. Srinivas added that the Congress would also support the nationwide "Chhatron Ki Goonj" campaign related to alleged irregularities in the NEET examination, aimed at protecting education and students' future.

Minister Ramanath urged SIR process must ensure no eligible voter is excluded

MANGALURU

Former minister B. Ramanath Rai has urged election authorities to ensure that no eligible voter is left out of the electoral rolls during the ongoing Special Intensive Revision (SIR) process. Rai said the voter list revision exercise is an important step to maintain accuracy and transparency in the electoral system, but officials must take adequate care while verifying voter details. He stressed that genuine voters should not face difficulties or lose their voting rights due to procedural issues. The SIR process involves verification and updating of electoral rolls to ensure that voter records remain accurate and free from errors. Rai highlighted the need for proper awareness among citizens and effective coordination between election officials and the public during the exercise. He said eligible voters, especially those who have been residing in their respective areas for a long time, should be given sufficient opportunities to provide necessary documents and complete verification procedures. Rai also called upon officials to conduct the process in a fair and transparent manner, ensuring that genuine voters are not removed from the list due to technical mistakes or lack of communication. The former minister emphasised that the right to vote is a fundamental democratic right and every eligible citizen should have the opportunity to participate in elections. He urged authorities to adopt a citizen-friendly approach while carrying out the revision exercise.

The concerns come amid efforts to update electoral rolls and strengthen the accuracy of voter databases. Political leaders and citizens have stressed the importance of maintaining both transparency and inclusiveness during such exercises to protect democratic participation. Rai appealed to eligible voters to actively participate in the verification process and ensure that their names remain correctly recorded in the electoral rolls. He also urged election officials to address public grievances promptly and provide necessary support throughout the SIR process.

TUMAKURU

Deputy Chief Minister Dr. G. Parameshwara said silk production and dairy farming are the main sources of support for farmers in Tumakuru district. He was speaking after inaugurating the silk growers' workshop and 'Nanna Reshme-Nanna Hemme' program organized by the Zilla Panchayat and Silk Department at Gubbi Veeranna Theatre.

Dr. Parameshwara said sericulture is not just a crop but a complete industry that provides income opportunities for farmers. He explained that even a small piece of land can help a family earn a livelihood through silk farming. He added that sericulture and milk production have become important for farmers, especially due to changing agricultural conditions in the district.

He said the government should provide more support and facilities to silk growers and increase the area under silk cultivation, which can offer better returns from limited land. He assured that he would discuss with the Chief Minister and prepare plans to strengthen the silk sector. He also noted that reduced rainfall this season has made farmers depend more on sericulture and dairy farming.

Karnataka State Special Representative in New Delhi T.B. Jayachandra said sericulture is a profitable business and farmers should receive incentives similar to those provided in China. He suggested improving silk yarn production technology and encouraging private industries to participate in the spinning sector. He also requested the government to establish a silk market in Tumakuru.

Silk grower Sivananda appealed for stronger support to promote sericulture in the state. Several officials, including District Collector Shubh Kalyan, Zilla Panchayat Chief Executive Officer B.V. Savita Samaj demands minister post for H.K. Patil

GADAG

The Gadag District Savita Samaj has demanded that senior leader H.K. Patil be given an important ministerial position in the state cabinet, stating that his leadership would help address the challenges faced by North Karnataka, especially the ongoing drought situation.

Savita Samaj District President Krishna H. Hadapada said H.K. Patil is not only an experienced politician but also a capable leader with administrative knowledge. In a press statement, he said Patil had earlier served as a senior minister in the Siddaramaiah-led government and claimed that North Karnataka witnessed better rainfall and agricultural conditions during that period.

Hadapada said the state is currently facing severe drought conditions, particularly in northern Karnataka, and farmers are struggling due to rainfall shortage. He alleged that experienced leaders like H.K. Patil have not been given suitable responsibility in the present government, which he described as a disappointment for the region.

He said the government should take immediate steps to address the drought situation and support farmers and the public. According to him, giving H.K. Patil a senior position in the cabinet would help bring effective planning and administration to deal with regional issues.

The Savita Samaj leader appealed to the state leadership and the party high command to consider the demand and provide H.K. Patil with a key responsibility. He said such a decision would strengthen the confidence of people in North Karnataka and help address their concerns.

YOUTH ADMITTED TO REHAB AFTER REPEATED DISTURBANCES

CH NEWS,BENGALURU

Repeated complaints against a youth for creating public disturbances in Bagalur ended with police admitting him to a rehabilitation centre after several unsuccessful attempts to counsel him and resolve the situation.

Balaji, a resident of Marasandra near Bagalur, allegedly began displaying erratic behaviour after claiming that two women had rejected his marriage proposals. He also alleged that one family refused the proposal because of caste-related reasons, following which his conduct reportedly became increasingly unusual.

In one incident, Balaji allegedly spread chilli powder around his house, claiming it would ward off Nagadosh. The act alarmed local residents, prompting police intervention. When officers arrived, he allegedly abused them, refused to explain his actions and locked the house gate, preventing them from entering.

Police said he repeatedly shouted at officers from inside the premises and later uploaded several videos on social media, alleging that local residents and police were plotting to kill him. In one video, he claimed that Bagalur Police should be held responsible if anything happened to him. In another, he reportedly described himself as a former "don" and made bizarre statements, including claiming to be the "child of Satan" who would be reborn after death. Madhu Bangarappa opposes teachers' deployment for SIR work

Bangarappa recalled opposing the use of teachers for surveys, stating they should focus on teaching responsibilities

CH NEWS,SHIVAMOGGA

Congress MLA Madhu Bangarappa has strongly opposed the deployment of government and aided school teachers for the Special Intensive Revision (SIR) of electoral rolls, stating that teachers should focus on teaching duties rather than non-academic assignments.

Bangarappa said assigning teachers to SIR-related work would negatively impact lakhs of students and may lead to a decline in the quality of education in government schools. He stressed that classrooms should remain the primary workplace for teachers.

Recalling his tenure as Education Minister, Bangarappa said he had earlier opposed using teachers for social, educational, and economic surveys conducted by the State Backward Classes Commission. He had maintained that teachers should not be burdened with additional responsibilities unrelated to teaching.

He pointed out that Booth Level Officers (BLOs) involved in the SIR process are already facing significant pressure and difficulties. According to him, assigning similar responsibilities to teachers would make it impossible for them to conduct regular classes effectively.

"If teachers are engaged in SIR activities for one or one-and-a-half months, students will suffer due to loss of classroom instruction. The responsibility for this loss must be addressed," he said, urging the Election Commission to immediately stop involving teachers in the SIR exercise. Bangarappa also stated that the Education Department's directive asking teachers involved in SIR work to continue regular teaching duties was a necessary step to protect students' academic interests.

He highlighted that ensuring quality education for children should remain the top priority of the Education Department. He said teachers must be allowed to dedicate their time and energy to academic activities.

The former minister recalled that during his term, he introduced the Karnataka State Civil Services (Regulation of Transfer of Teachers) (Amendment) Bill with the objective of preventing teachers from being assigned non-teaching duties.

Bangarappa concluded that strict measures should be taken to ensure that teachers are not turned into survey personnel and that their primary responsibility of educating students is protected.

CH NEWS,SHIVAMOGGA

The complaint was filed by Nagesh Rao R., who serves as the president of Padmavathi High School. According to his complaint, he was acquainted with cooperative society president H.N. Vijay Dev, who allegedly approached him on the pretext of providing financial assistance.

Nagesh Rao alleged that he was called to the cooperative society office on June 20, 2012, where he was informed that a loan of Rs 20 lakh would be provided. He claimed that he was asked to sign blank documents and a blank cheque as security.

According to the complaint, documents were allegedly prepared showing that Rs 20 lakh had been given as a loan, while only Rs 17 lakh was actually provided. Nagesh Rao stated that he repaid Rs 10 lakh on August 5, 2014.

He further claimed that, as requested by Vijay Dev, he became a member of a Rs 10 lakh chit fund scheme conducted by the organisation and paid Rs 25,000 every month for 40 months, amounting to another Rs 10 lakh. He stated that he has documents supporting these payments. However, he alleged that the society did not return the blank documents and signed cheque taken as security. Later, he claimed that the cheque was filled with an amount of Rs 47,70,849 and presented to the bank on November 21, 2018. After the cheque was dishonoured, a case was reportedly filed against him in the Shivamogga JMFC court under case number 297/2019.

National Lok Adalat promotes faster justice through settlement

SHIDLAGHATTA

Senior Civil Judge of the JMFC Court Mohammad Roshan Shah said the National Lok Adalat aims to ensure speedy disposal of court cases and provide timely justice to people. He was speaking at a preliminary meeting held at the Bar Association auditorium to discuss preparations for the Lok Adalat scheduled to be conducted on July 11.

Addressing advocates and officials, the judge said settling minor disputes through mutual agreement would reduce the burden on courts and allow judges to focus on other important cases. He explained that fewer pending cases would help deliver justice more quickly. He also said that compromise reached through Lok Adalats benefits both individuals and society by encouraging peaceful settlements instead of lengthy legal battles.

Mohammad Roshan Shah said decisions made in Lok Adalats carry the same legal value as court judgments. Unlike regular court verdicts, these settlements cannot be appealed because they are accepted by both parties through mutual consent. He added that experienced advocates guide participants without pressure, helping them save time, legal expenses, court fees and repeated visits. Such settlements also help maintain good relationships between the parties involved.

Bar Association President A. Narayanaswamy said the National Lok Adalat will be held at the JMFC Court on July 11 as per the directions of the State Legal Services Authority. Police solve mysterious Javanahalli woman murder case

MANDYA

Police have solved the mysterious murder of a young woman whose burnt body was found near Javanahalli Hill in Malavalli taluk on June 24. District Superintendent of Police Dr. V.J. Shobharani said the investigation revealed that the victim, Nalini, was allegedly murdered by Rajashekar, who later died by suicide along with his mother by jumping into a lake in Tamil Nadu on June 28.

The investigation began after local residents alerted Belakawadi police about the charred body. Officers recovered two rings, keys, a watch and an ear clip from the scene. A special team examined CCTV footage from a nearby toll plaza and noticed an Etios car passing through the area. The footage showed a woman asleep in the front seat. Vehicle records led police to Rajashekar, who initially ly claimed he had sold the car, raising further suspicion.

Further questioning and evidence revealed that Nalini, who worked at a beauty parlour in Bengaluru, knew Rajashekar and they were reportedly in a relationship. Police said disagreements over marriage had created tension between them in recent weeks. Investigators believe Nalini met Rajashekar on June 22 after he asked her to come to Attibele. According to the investigation, she was later taken to Upparahalli and allegedly killed before her body was set on fire.

Police said Rajashekar later gave different explanations to friends and Nalini's acquaintances before the investigation closed in on him. By then, he and his mother had died by suicide. Officials said the evidence collected helped solve the challenging case despite the condition of the body.

Speed radar cameras reduce traffic violations across Udupi

UDUPI

The installation of advanced speed radar cameras on national highways in Udupi district has resulted in a significant decline in traffic rule violations, according to officials. The automated surveillance system introduced through a public-private partnership has helped improve road discipline and reduce dangerous driving practices.

Six strategically important locations across the district have been equipped with automatic number plate recognition speed radar cameras. These include Uchila under Padubidri Police Station limits, Dandatheertha under Kapu Police Station, Tekkatte under Kota Police Station, Trasi under Gangolli Police Station, Naikanakatte under Byndoor Police Station, and Dupadakatte under Karkala Rural Police Station limits.

The cameras automatically detect various traffic violations and record details of vehicles. Based on the violations captured, e-challan notices are generated automatically and sent to the registered owners of the vehicles.

The project was launched in May, and since then, around 2,700 e-challans have been issued in the district. Compared to the month of May, traffic violations in major categories have reduced significantly, with a decline ranging between 40% and 70%.

Data from the traffic department shows a major improvement in road safety behaviour. Cases of speeding involving two-wheelers, three-wheelers, and light motor vehicles reduced from 40,175 in the first week after installation to 14,364 in the recent week.

Similarly, violations related to not wearing seat belts declined from 15,575 cases initially to 6,561 cases. Helmetless riding cases also witnessed a sharp drop, decreasing from 12,440 cases in the first week to 5,070 cases recently.

Wrong-side driving violations reduced from 4,050 cases to 2,441 cases, while triple riding on two-wheelers dropped from 3,174 cases to 1,036 cases. Overspeeding cases involving heavy vehicles also declined from 3,170 cases to 997 cases.

Officials stated that continuous monitoring through automated technology has encouraged motorists to follow traffic rules more responsibly. The system is expected to further strengthen road safety measures and reduce accidents caused by traffic violations in the district.

FARMERS DEMAND CANCELLATION OF EVICTION ORDERS, LAND RIGHTS

KOPPA

Members of the Sringeri constituency farmers' association and Hasiru Sene staged a protest in front of the taluk office, demanding the cancellation of land eviction orders and the issuance of rights documents for lands under cultivation.

The protesters submitted a memorandum to Tahsildar Likhitha Mohan, urging the administration to provide legal recognition to farmers who have been cultivating the lands for several years.

The farmers alleged that a five-gunta piece of land under the Bhandigadi Gram Panchayat limits, which had been cultivated for nearly 45 years, was suddenly cleared by the Tahsildar on July 2. They said that when they questioned the official, they were informed that the action was taken based on instructions from higher authorities.

The protesters claimed that the issue had earlier been resolved in the presence of farmer leaders from the region. They expressed dissatisfaction over what they described as repeated harassment of a poor farmer despite previous settlements.

They argued that there are provisions to issue land rights documents under various schemes, including Forms 50, 53, 57, 94C, and 94CC, as well as under revenue villages and sub-villages. The protesters alleged that officials removed the encroachment without conducting proper field verification.

Sringeri constituency Youth Congress president Durgacharan Kunchur said that if officials were committed to their duties, they should first remove large-scale encroachments by wealthy individuals instead of targeting poor farmers. He warned that the Congress party would not tolerate injustice against economically weaker sections.

Advocate Sudheer Kumar Muroli stated that a joint survey was already underway to identify forest and revenue lands and process land grants. He questioned the decision to remove cultivated lands during this ongoing survey process.

The protest was attended by Block Congress president Kukkudige Ravindra, District Youth Congress president Shreejith Dandinamakki, Shrivakar Shetty, Deepak Kuduregundi, Prashanth, Mohammed Tayyib, Vijayanand, Srinivas Karangi, and several other supporters.

LAND SCAM EXPOSURE

Mandya land investigation receives strong public backing

MANDYA

The Lokayukta investigation into alleged illegal occupation and sale of government land in Srirangapatna and Nagamangala taluks has received support from farmers and local residents. Karnataka State Farmers Association leader Mohankumar, also known as Kirangooru Papu, welcomed the action and said a detailed inquiry would help expose those involved in the alleged land scam.

According to him, the investigation was launched under the directions of Upalokayukta Justice Veerappa, with supervision from the trial authority and Mandya District Lokayukta Superintendent of Police Suresh Babu. He claimed that hundreds of acres of government land had been illegally transferred and sold over the years. He alleged that land meant for poor families had instead reached wealthy individuals, real estate developers and people with political influence.

Mohankumar also called for stronger action against corruption in government offices. He said farmers and ordinary citizens often face delays in getting official work completed and alleged that irregularities had occurred in matters related to government land and property records. He urged the government to provide more powers to the Lokayukta so that corruption can be investigated effectively and public confidence in government institutions can be strengthened.

He further demanded an inquiry into the officials who handled earlier land-related cases, including former Tahsildars, surveyors, revenue inspectors, Shirastedars and sub-divisional officers. He also alleged that government properties, municipal sites and land along the banks of the River Kaveri in Srirangapatna had been illegally occupied. He appealed for a comprehensive investigation to identify those responsible and ensure that government land is protected for public welfare and lawful use in the future.

Three tier Panchayat System becomes global model: DCM Parameshwara

Dr. Parameshwara said India's three-tier Panchayat system promotes Gram Swaraj, empowering people to manage local issues and governance

TUMAKURU

Deputy Chief Minister Dr. G. Parameshwara said Karnataka's three-tier Panchayat Raj system has become a model for the world due to its focus on decentralised administration and people's participation. He was speaking while inaugurating a three-day training workshop for newly appointed village panchayat administrators, Panchayat Development Officers and secretaries at the Zilla Panchayat office on Wednesday.

Dr. Parameshwara said no other country has a similar three-level local administration system consisting of Gram Panchayat, Taluk Panchayat and Zilla Panchayat. He said the system was created under the idea of Gram Swaraj, where people should have the power to manage local issues and participate in governance.

He explained that Mahatma Gandhi's vision of Gram

Swaraj was based on self-governance, and after independence, the government included decentralisation of power in the Constitution. As a result, India, especially Karnataka, has developed a strong Panchayat system. He said the system initially faced criticism over corruption and misuse of power, but over time its positive impact has helped citizens receive the benefits of democracy at the local level. The Deputy Chief Minister said technology should be used effectively to make administration easier and reduce the workload of officials. He advised newly appointed officers to understand village-level problems and work honestly to provide quick and fair solutions to the public. He stressed that transparent administration and responsible functioning are important for the success of Panchayat Raj institutions.

State Special Representative in New Delhi T.B. Jayachandra said training programmes are essential for officials to ensure transparent and efficient administration. He urged officers to complete public works within the given time and avoid corruption while serving people.

Zilla Panchayat Chief Executive Officer B.V. Ashvija said the workshop was organised to improve the knowledge and skills of new administrators and secretaries through guidance from experienced resource persons. The training focuses on good governance and effective implementation of development programmes at the village level. BMTC Vice President Niket Raj M., District Collector Shub Kalyan, District Superintendent of Police K.V. Ashok, officials from various departments and other dignitaries were present during the programme.

The decision was announced during a meeting held to discuss farmers' issues including rainfall, water availability, crop insurance and sugarcane-related concerns.

District Collector said there is no shortage of seeds and fertilizers required for the monsoon season in the district. Around 30,000 metric tonnes of fertilizer stock is available, and necessary steps have been taken to ensure farmers receive agricultural inputs on time. Officials from different departments participated in the meeting along with farmer organisation leaders who shared their concerns and suggestions.

The Mysugar factory boiler ignition ceremony was held on Wednesday, preparing for sugarcane crushing from July 15. District Commissioner Dr. Kumar and Mysugar President C. D. Gangadhar launched the process with officials. The factory management said crushing will begin on July 15, with a daily capacity of 5,000 tonnes. Farmers have supplied sugarcane and the unit aims to complete operations by November. Chairman Gangadhar assured farmers about timely payments and support. The revival of Mysugar is expected to benefit growers and strengthen the sugar sector in Mandya district.

Collector directed immediate sugarcane crushing, noting ₹10.30 crore government incentive released, and urged mills to withdraw court case and clear pending dues served mainly for drinking purposes.

Farmers were also encouraged to register under the Pradhan Mantri Fasal Bima Yojana to receive protection against crop losses. Around 11,000 farmers have already registered, and officials will work to increase participation. Authorities were instructed to provide farmers with seven hours of power supply during morning and evening hours, giving priority to morning supply. Officials from agriculture, horticulture, irrigation, electricity departments and representatives of farmer organisations attended the meeting and discussed measures to address agricultural challenges in the district.

officials to start sugarcane crushing in all sugar factories immediately. The government has already released ₹10.30 crore towards the state's share of the ₹50 per tonne incentive for sugarcane growers. As a case related to the mills' share is pending in court, sugar factories have been requested to withdraw the case and release their pending contribution in the interest of farmers.

Officials were also directed to prepare an alternative crop plan at taluk and hobli levels after reviewing rainfall conditions. Since sowing is possible until the first week of August, farmers will be given awareness about suitable alternative crops. The Agriculture Department has been asked to maintain adequate availability of quality seeds and fertilizers.

The Collector appealed to farmers to cooperate with the sixth phase drinking water project considering future water requirements. Due to low water storage in the Krishnarajasagara Dam, irrigation water cannot currently be provided for agricultural crops. Available water is being re-

ELECTRICAL SHORT CIRCUIT TRIGGERS FIRE AT HASSAN BAR

HASSAN

A fire broke out at Supriya Bar and Restaurant behind the city bus stand on Kasturba Road on Wednesday morning due to an electrical short circuit, creating panic among people in the area. Fire and emergency service personnel rushed to the spot immediately and worked for more than an hour to control the fire and heavy smoke.

Fire Brigade Chief Ningaraju said the fire started after a short circuit in underground electrical cables caused damage to the junction box and meter board. He explained that dense smoke inside the underground area made rescue operations difficult, as visibility was extremely low. Firefighters entered the area using artificial breathing equipment after ensuring that the power supply was completely disconnected. The team initially used carbon dioxide and dry chemical powder equipment before spraying water from outside to bring the situation under control. An additional fire engine was called due to the intensity of the fire. Ningaraju said placing electrical equipment such as junction boxes and meter boards inside small underground rooms creates difficulties during emergencies. He advised that such areas should have proper ventilation, smoke exhaust systems and emergency exits. Officials said there was no major damage to the main building, though some electrical equipment may have been damaged. The fire department confirmed that the smoke was cleared and the situation was completely safe after the successful operation.

FREE TRAVEL SUPPORT

7,845 students receive free bus passes in Chikkaballapura

CHIKKABALLAPURA

A total of 7,845 students in Chikkaballapura district have received free bus passes under the state government's guarantee schemes to support education and reduce the financial burden on families. District Guarantee Schemes Implementation Authority Chairman Yalvali N. Ramesh said the initiative is helping students continue their studies without facing travel difficulties.

He was speaking after launching the distribution programme organised by the District Guarantee Schemes Implementation Authority in

stand in Chikkaballapura on Wednesday. He said the five guarantee schemes introduced by the state government have brought positive changes in education, women empowerment and social security sectors.

Ramesh said schemes such as Shakti, Gruha Lakshmi, Anna Bhagya, Gruha Jyothi and Yuva Nidhi are supporting lakhs of families across the state. Along with these programmes, the government has introduced free bus passes for male students to encourage education and help reduce travel expenses. He said the facility will benefit students from rural areas who depend on public transport to reach schools and colleges.

He explained that the Shakti scheme, which provides free bus travel for women in government buses, has helped women access education, employment, healthcare and self-employment opportunities. Similarly, free bus passes for students will make travel easier and encourage them to continue their education without financial pressure.

The authority chairman said free bus passes have already been provided to 7,845 students in the district and around 7,000 more students are expected to receive the benefit soon. The administration has set a target of distributing free bus passes to more than 13,000 students in the district. Eligible students were requested to submit the required documents and make use of the scheme.

He said the main aim of the guarantee schemes is to reduce living expenses, improve family financial stability and encourage education and employment. Providing free transport facilities to students from remote villages will help prevent them from missing educational opportunities due to travel costs. Vice Chairman S.N. Subbareddy, members K.N. Jayaram, Nirmala Gangadhar, Madhusudhan, Muninarayanappa, Venugopal, Rangaraju, H.M. Muniyappa, KSRTC officials, department representatives, students and the public were present at the programme.

Congress criticizes Hindu members in Waqf board

MUMBAI Congress leader Hussain Dalwai strongly condemned Madhya Pradesh's decision to appoint non-Muslim members to its reconstituted Waqf Board, calling it an attempt to marginalize Muslims. The state recently became the first to implement the new Waqf Amendment Act, naming Manoj Malpani and Animesh Bhargava to the ten-member board. Dalwai questioned if the government would similarly appoint Muslims to Hindu religious bodies like the Ram Temple Trust. While welcoming the Uniform Civil Code if it ensures true gender equality, Dalwai emphasized that controversial reforms require comprehensive public debates rather than targeted actions.

Abhishek Banerjee skips voice sample test in court

KOLKATA Trinamool Congress General Secretary Abhishek Banerjee skipped his scheduled appearance at the Bidhannagar Court. He was ordered to provide voice samples for an ongoing Criminal Investigation Department probe. The investigation involves an alleged hate speech case connected to the recent West Bengal Assembly elections. This marks another instance of the high-profile politician avoiding the court-mandated procedure. Legal authorities and the state CID are currently reviewing the situation to determine the next legal steps regarding his repeated absences from this crucial investigation.

Congress demands opposition lead Badrinath temple probe

DEHRADUN The Congress party has condemned the Uttarakhand government's investigation into alleged donation thefts at the highly revered Badrinath Temple. State Congress President Ganesh Godiyal labeled the official inquiry a cover-up, demanding an all-party committee led by an opposition leader instead. He expressed zero faith in the current panel, fearing a destruction of evidence. Meanwhile, Chief Minister Pushkar Singh Dhami strongly vowed strict punishment, equating temple theft to a sin as severe as cow slaughter. He assured the public that a high-level police probe is actively underway to catch those guilty.

Bengal encounter sparks fierce political debate

KOLKATA The recent police encounter of an accused rapist has triggered fierce political arguments across West Bengal. Trinamool Congress MP Mahua Moitra strongly condemned the killing, comparing the state to Uttar Pradesh and calling it jungle law. Conversely, rebel leader Siuli Saha defended the police, arguing they acted legally after being attacked.

Congress leaders honor legacy of legend YSR

Top Congress leaders paid tribute to former Andhra Pradesh Chief Minister YS Rajasekhara Reddy on his birth anniversary

NEW DELHI

Top Congress leaders paid heartfelt tributes to the former Andhra Pradesh Chief Minister, Y.S. Rajasekhara Reddy, popularly known as YSR, on his birth anniversary. They highly praised his lifelong dedication to uplifting marginalized communities.

Leader of the Opposition Rahul Gandhi described YSR as a true statesman whose unwavering commitment transformed countless lives. Congress President Mallikarjun Kharge also lauded the visionary leader, highlighting his deep devotion to farmers, the poor, and the party. Born in 1949, YSR originally trained as a medical doctor, running a charitable hospital before entering politics in 1978. Remarkably, he remained completely undefeated throughout his 25-year political career, winning eight consecutive state and parliamentary elections. YSR served twice as the state Congress chief and acted as a powerful Opposition Leader. His historic public march helped him secure the Chief Minister's seat in 2004. He later won a second consecutive term in 2009. Despite facing corruption allegations from rivals, his immense welfare work ensures his enduring legacy across the nation.

Milestones of a visionary leader:

- Historic March: Led a grueling 1,400-km foot journey across backward regions to connect with citizens in 2003.
- Landslide Victory: Guided the Congress party to a massive 185-seat win during the 2004 assembly elections.
- Public Champion: Fought passionately for struggling farmers, weavers, and youth while opposing power hikes.

Fadnavis defends Mumbai-Pune expressway after landslide

MUMBAI Maharashtra Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis launched a defense of the ₹7,000-crore Mumbai-Pune "Missing Link" expressway project, strongly firing back at opposition allegations of corruption following a recent landslide. Adopting a defiant stance against aggressive social media trolling, Fadnavis declared himself completely "abuse-proof" while hailing the mega project as a global engineering marvel.

The political storm erupted after torrential monsoon rains triggered a major landslide on the newly inaugurated transit route, halting traffic for roughly 18 hours. Seizing the opportunity, opposition leaders immediately attacked the Mahayuti government, alleging substandard construction work and systemic structural failure.

Replying to a heated legislative assembly debate, Fadnavis openly accused his critics of fabricating political lies. He revealed that the previous alliance government had actually tried to kill the vital infrastructure project by permanently closing the file. Fadnavis firmly rejected claims that public money had been wasted, clarifying that the relentless downpour simply caused mountain debris to crash onto an external decorative arch. He emphasized that the main tunnel structure suffered absolutely no cracks, and its integrated electronic safety systems functioned flawlessly to clear the path within hours.

The Chief Minister proudly reminded the House that the historic route features India's tallest cable-stayed bridge and the widest twin tunnels in the world, successfully bypassing a highly dangerous ghat section. Invoking the legacy of past engineering challenges like the Konkan Railway, he argued that major progress requires political courage to overcome natural risks.

Turning to the wider monsoon crisis gripping the state, Fadnavis briefed lawmakers on extensive emergency relief operations. He noted that regions like Vasai-Virar faced a staggering 772 mm of rain, temporarily knocking out local power grids. The state has already deployed immediate financial aid and free food.

Amit Shah promises Center's support for Wayanad

THIRUVANANTHAPURAM

Union Home Minister Amit Shah spoke with Kerala Chief Minister V.D. Satheesan over the phone regarding the tragic Wayanad mudslide. Shah promised the Central government's complete support for all ongoing rescue, relief, and rehabilitation operations, while calling for a high-level investigation.

The conversation followed a devastating accident where three workers lost their lives and five others remain missing. Nine injured individuals are currently receiving medical treatment at a local hospital, with two reported to be in critical condition. The disaster occurred after a massive mound of excavated mud collapsed due to heavy rainfall, trapping several laborers underneath tonnes of heavy debris.

During their call, the Home Minister received a detailed update from the Chief Minister about the ground situation and the immediate steps taken by local authorities. Shah expressed his satisfaction with Kerala's rapid emergency response and reiterated that federal agencies stand ready to assist.

He also emphasized the urgent need for a thorough probe to identify the exact causes and prevent future tragedies.

(PDP).

While Muzaffar Baig has stayed away from active politics recently, he remains an incredibly influential figure across Kashmir's political and legal circles. His past friction with PDP chief Mehbooba Mufti after 2019 triggered rumors of him shifting sides, though other regional parties denied his fresh entry into the NC marks a massive realignment of power, altering the political landscape of the valley ahead of future challenges.

The influential Muzaffar Baig legacy:

- Top Statesman: Served as Deputy Chief Minister and won multiple critical state and parliamentary elections.
- Legal Expert: Educated at Harvard Law School; served as Advocate General and received the Padma Bhushan.
- Political Shift: Distanced from PDP after post-2019 disagreements with leader Mehbooba Mufti.

Catastrophic storms to test China's urban resilience: Reports

SHANGHAI

Scientists warn that extreme weather fueled by El Niño will severely test China's resilience this year. Following devastating floods in southern Guangxi that killed six people and trapped thousands, the nation now braces for Super Typhoon Bavi. Packing winds over 180 mph, this massive storm threatens heavily populated provinces. Experts state that climate change is triggering more frequent, intense cyclones, leaving communities no time to recover. With July typhoon forecasts exceeding historical averages, the risk of catastrophic flooding, landslides, and widespread crop damage remains dangerously high across China's vulnerable coasts.

Qatari LNG Tanker awaits ocean salvage

LONDON

The Qatari LNG tanker Al Rekayyat sits stationary near the Strait of Hormuz following a projectile strike. A fire erupted in the engine room, raising explosion risks, though the vessel's massive liquefied natural gas tanks remain unbreached. Emergency teams successfully evacuated all crew members, and salvage operations will begin once responders extinguish the flames. This dangerous incident marks the first time a Qatari gas ship has been targeted since regional conflict erupted in February. Qatar has formally blamed Iran for the attack, sparking intense diplomatic fury and summoning the deputy Iranian ambassador in protest.

UK lawmakers seek accountability for PoK violations

LONDON

Several British parliamentarians have raised grave concerns over an escalating human rights crisis in Pakistan-occupied Kashmir (PoK). The region has been gripped by severe unrest, leaving dozens of innocent civilians dead or injured following a brutal crackdown by Pakistani security forces. The territory currently remains under a strict, forced lockdown, a heavy curfew, and a complete communications blackout. Speaking directly in the British Parliament, Conservative MP Bob Blackman stated that Pakistani forces opened fire on peaceful demonstrators who were standing up for basic human rights, food security, and regional safety. Blackman revealed that more than 30 people were killed and over 200 injured during the state-led violence, including several British nationals. He strongly questioned the UK government on whether it had officially summoned Pakistan's High Commissioner to protest the unacceptable actions and protect innocent bystanders. Another UK lawmaker, Imran Hussain, voiced serious anxieties during the parliamentary debate. He highlighted a complete breakdown in dialogue between authorities and local grassroots organizations, alongside arbitrary arrests and a rising death toll. Hussain labeled recent reports regarding restrictions on the movement of essential medical supplies and food into PoK as deeply alarming. He noted that groups like the Joint Awami Action Committee had spent months trying to peacefully negotiate economic and civic governance issues.

India, US jointly smash global racketeering ring

India cooperated with global law enforcement to dismantle an international crime network, resulting in 37 racketeering charges.

WASHINGTON

Indian authorities have actively cooperated with the United States and global law enforcement to smash a massive international crime network. The major breakthrough resulted in sweeping racketeering charges against three dangerous organized crime groups operating across multiple continents. The successful collaboration was highlighted after US officials announced charges against 37 suspects linked to syndicates accused of murder, kidnapping, extortion, and large-scale drug trafficking across North America and Europe. A total of 24 suspects have already been arrested under a multinational crackdown named "Operation Hard Ball." Royal Canadian Mounted Police Deputy Commissioner Lisa Moreland confirmed that the Indian government assisted investigators during the complex, years-long probe. She emphasized that Canadian police worked shoulder-to-shoulder with the FBI and global partners, calling India's cooperation a model for what international law enforcement strives to achieve. The investigation successfully unmasked three notorious criminal syndicates allegedly led by Lawrence Bishnoi, Jaggu Bhagwanpuria, and Ravinder Singh Dhandha. Prosecutors revealed a shocking operational method, both Bishnoi and Bhagwanpuria allegedly directed their violent global empires right from their Indian jail cells using smuggled mobile phones. Their associates then carried out deadly assignments on the streets of the US, Canada, and Europe. Police leaders noted that modern technology has made organized crime completely borderless, making international teamwork absolutely essential. No single country can fight these sophisticated syndicates alone. The massive operation brought together the FBI, the Canadian Mounties, the Los Angeles Police Department, and law enforcement agencies from Spain and several other nations.

US indictment details Bishnoi's global prison syndicate

WASHINGTON

United States prosecutors have revealed that jailed gangster Lawrence Bishnoi masterminded a massive international criminal empire straight from an Indian prison cell. Using smuggled mobile phones and internet-based messaging apps, Bishnoi allegedly coordinated a wave of targeted murders, extortion schemes, and drug trafficking operations spanning multiple countries. The explosive allegations were detailed in a federal racketeering indictment unsealed as part of "Operation Hard Ball." This coordinated global crackdown by Western law enforcement targeted three major organized crime networks operating across North America, Europe, and Australia. According to the indictment, Bishnoi started his criminal path in the early 2010s while attending university in Punjab. Styling himself as a popular campus student leader, he eventually traded university politics for a life of crime, transforming his loyal student followers into a lethal syndicate. Despite being arrested by Indian police in 2015, Bishnoi never lost control of his gang. Instead, he used smuggled smartphones and internet calling devices behind bars to direct high-profile assassinations, extortions, and human smuggling operations around the world. To maintain his grip on power and keep drawing fresh recruits, prosecutors state that Bishnoi carefully cultivated a public image as a religious patriot and nationalist through social media and media interviews. The gang specifically preyed on poor, vulnerable minors from disadvantaged areas in India, promising them quick cash, power, and protection. Loyal recruits were later shipped off to the United States and Canada using fraudulent student or foreign worker visas. The indictment further notes that Bishnoi kept his gang decentralized so lower-level members knew very little about each other. This protected the wider network from being compromised if someone got arrested. Members were also terrorized into submission with chilling threats of violence against themselves or their families back in India if they ever tried to exit the syndicate or talk to the Indian Prime Minister Narendra Modi will make a historic two-day official visit to New Zealand starting July 10.

Diaspora celebrates Modi's landmark New Zealand trip

AUCKLAND

Members of the Indian diaspora in New Zealand are buzzing with immense excitement ahead of Prime Minister Narendra Modi's upcoming historic visit. Community members say they have been waiting for this momentous occasion for decades, viewing it as a golden opportunity to heavily boost bilateral relations and unlock new opportunities for both nations. Prime Minister Modi will embark on a landmark two-day official visit to New Zealand from July 10 to 11, following a special invitation from New Zealand Prime Minister Christopher Luxon. This highly anticipated trip marks the first time an Indian Prime Minister has set foot in New Zealand in forty years. During the high-level visit, both leaders are expected to review the entire spectrum of their bilateral ties, focusing closely on the major progress achieved over the last two years in crucial areas like trade, commerce, and defense. Local Indian residents and international students have expressed tremendous enthusiasm about welcoming Modi. Many highlighted his immense global popularity among both young and old generations. A major talking point within the community is the potential finalization of a Free Trade Agreement, which many believe will instantly boost the economies of both countries and resolve long-standing trade issues. Students living in New Zealand are also optimistic that the historic diplomatic meeting will yield positive welfare outcomes for them. Others noted that the visit would show India's strong leadership to the wider Pacific region while creating multiple fresh avenues for business and cultural exchange. With a large, vibrant Indian community already well-established in New Zealand, the diaspora believes this visit serves as a massive milestone that will cement deeper friendships between the two democracies. The entire community is united in their joy, eagerly counting down the hours until his arrival.

61 deaths in Bangladesh prison spark alarm

DHAKA

Bangladesh's Awami League has raised major concerns over the tragic deaths of 61 inmates within the country's prisons during the first half of 2026. The political party stated that this alarming trend bears a striking and dangerous resemblance to the high prison death tolls recorded under previous regimes. The figures were made public after the Dhaka-based human rights group, Ain o Salish Kendra, documented the fatalities spanning from January to June this year. According to their investigation, the victims included 24 convicted inmates and 37 under-trial prisoners who had not yet been found guilty of any crime. The capital division of Dhaka recorded the highest number of casualties, accounting for 36 of the total cases. Condemning the incident, the Awami League emphasized that the state bears full constitutional responsibility for the safety and well-being of every single citizen placed in jail custody. They argued that when individuals lose their lives before their legal trials can even conclude, it heavily undermines the rule of law and damages public faith in the entire justice system. The party further noted that even for convicted prisoners, a jail sentence does not give the government the right to deprive them of life. Serious questions are now being raised regarding whether these sudden deaths were caused by physical violence, systemic abuse, or severe medical negligence by prison authorities. Critics have strongly accused the current administration of failing to provide transparent, satisfactory explanations for the fatalities. They argue that the ongoing crisis reflects a deep and worrying lack of accountability within the state's correctional facilities. The political opposition is now urging immediate oversight and sweeping institutional reforms to guarantee human rights protection, ensuring that an arrest does not turn into a death sentence for citizens waiting for their day in court.

PAKISTAN LAUNCHES SEARCH FOR MISSING BOEING FREIGHTER

KARACHI

Pakistani rescue teams are scouring the Arabian Sea following the terrifying disappearance of a Boeing cargo plane. The converted freighter, carrying five crew members, completely lost touch with air traffic controllers during its final approach toward the coastal city of Karachi. Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif has directed emergency teams to drastically accelerate their sea-based search and rescue operations. While authorities have not made an official declaration regarding the status of the crew, Prime Minister Sharif has already extended his heartfelt condolences to their anxious families. K2 Airways, the private carrier operating the flight, confirmed that the missing team includes two pilots, two flight engineers, and one operational support staffer. The initial flight records paint a chaotic picture of the aircraft's final moments. According to tracking data provided by Flightradar24, the 27-year-old aircraft suddenly reported a severe navigation system problem. Local air traffic controllers immediately tried to guide the pilots, but radar systems quickly showed the plane executing highly unusual and sharp altitude swings. It plunged thousands of feet before abruptly climbing, only to enter a final, catastrophic dive from 36,550 feet.

26 killed in Sri Lanka's Negombo jail riot

COLOMBO

Devastated families across Sri Lanka are mourning the loss of 26 people killed during a horrific two-day prison riot. The violent outbreak, which erupted in the coastal town of Negombo, has been declared the nation's worst correctional facility crisis in years, claiming the lives of seven prison officials and 19 inmates.

Grieving relatives gathered in tears at Welikada Prison as the bodies of the slain officers, draped in the national flag, were brought to Colombo. Among the victims was 41-year-old

Sergeant S.D.S Abeywardana, a former Navy veteran. He belonged to an elite anti-corruption unit deployed to restore order when clashes escalated. Officers were brutally attacked with bricks and clubs by rioting inmates attempting a mass jailbreak. The bodies of the 19 deceased prisoners have also been released to their families following postmortems.

THE BHUTANESE REFUGEE FRAUD

Ex-Ministers convicted in fake Bhutanese refugee scam

KATHMANDU

A lower court in Nepal has convicted the country's former Deputy Prime Minister, Top Bahadur Rayamajhi, and former Home Minister, Bal Krishna Khand. Alongside them, 14 other individuals were found guilty in a massive fake Bhutanese refugee scam that shook the nation's political establishment three years ago. The Kathmandu District Court ruled that the group actively conspired to smuggle ordinary Nepali citizens into the United States by falsely passing them off as displaced Bhutanese refugees. Although the official international resettlement program for genuine Bhutanese refugees completely concluded back in 2016, the criminal network successfully deceived hundreds of hopeful citizens. They collected enormous sums of money from their victims by promising them access to non-existent refugee quotas for a new life in America. Kathmandu District Court Judge Tej Bahadur Khadka found the defendants guilty of multiple serious offenses, including forgery, fraud, organized crime, and crimes against the state. The long list of convicted individuals features senior political figures, middlemen, and high-ranking bureaucrats, such as former Home Secretary Tek Narayan Pandey. The court's detailed order labeled the scheme as a major offense against the state. The judge noted that the high-profile individuals responsible had severely undermined the dignity of Nepali citizens while deeply damaging Nepal's international reputation. The court emphasized that the operation was clearly an organized crime because it required a highly coordinated, multi-layered network of politicians, government employees, and middlemen to execute the fraud.

World Cup quarter-finals set for blockbuster clashes

NEW YORK

The race for the 2026 FIFA World Cup has narrowed to eight contenders, setting the stage for a series of blockbuster quarter-final clashes across the United States as football's elite battle for a place in the last four.

Reigning champions Argentina, tournament favourites France, European champions Spain and England headline a star-studded quarter-final lineup, while Morocco, Belgium, Norway and Switzerland seek to upset the established order and keep their title dreams alive.

France enter their clash against Morocco in Boston as one of the tournament's standout teams. Didier Deschamps' side have combined defensive solidity with attacking flair, powered by stars Kylian Mbappe, Ousmane Dembele, Michael Olise and Bradley Barcola. Morocco, however, arrive unbeaten after eliminating the Netherlands on penalties and thrashing co-hosts Canada 3-0. The Atlas Lions will also be motivated by memories of their semi-final defeat to France at the 2022 World Cup.

Spain, meanwhile, continue to impress with remarkable defensive discipline. The European champions became the first team to register six consecutive clean sheets at a World Cup after edging Portugal in the previous round. While teenage sensation Lamine Yamal has shown flashes of brilliance, striker Mikel Oyarzabal has emerged as Spain's leading scorer. Belgium, inspired by veterans Kevin De Bruyne and Romelu Lukaku, will hope to extend what could be the final World Cup campaign for the nation's celebrated Golden Generation.

England face arguably their toughest challenge yet against Erling Haaland's Norway in Miami. Harry Kane and Jude Bellingham have spearheaded England's attack, but Haaland has been in sensational form, scoring seven goals and finding the net in each of Norway's last 14 competitive matches.

Defending champions Argentina take on Switzerland after surviving dramatic encounters against Cape Verde and Egypt. Lionel Messi once again inspired remarkable comebacks, underlining his enduring influence as Argentina pursue a fourth world title. Switzerland, quarter-finalists for the first time since 1954, have built their campaign on defensive organisation and resilience.

With global stars, historic rivalries and contrasting styles on display, the quarter-finals promise four compelling contests that could shape the legacy of the 2026 World Cup. Every match now carries enormous significance as the road to football's ultimate prize enters its decisive phase.

EU lawmakers seek FIFA probe over Infantino role

BRUSSELS

Dozens of European lawmakers have called for an investigation into FIFA president Gianni Infantino over the controversial decision to allow United States striker Folarin Balogun to play despite receiving a red card earlier in the 2026 FIFA World Cup. The lawmakers are seeking support within the European Parliament and have urged national football associations across the European Union to press FIFA's Ethics Committee to examine whether political influence played a role in overturning Balogun's suspension.

Balogun was sent off during the United States' World Cup victory over Bosnia and Herzegovina on July 1. Under normal tournament regulations, the dismissal would have ruled him out of the next match. However, FIFA lifted the suspension ahead of Monday's clash after US President Donald Trump reportedly intervened with Infantino on behalf of the striker.

FIFA has maintained that the decision was taken independently by its disciplinary committee and not by the FIFA president.

European Parliament members Barry Andrews, Lara Wolters and Niels Fuglsang criticised the move in a joint statement, describing the decision to alter the application of red-card suspension rules during the tournament as "a disgrace and a perversion of justice."

The lawmakers alleged that

European legislators question FIFA's impartiality after controversial decision involving United States striker Balogun the incident raised serious concerns about FIFA's independence and adherence to its principles of political neutrality. They are asking the FIFA Ethics Committee to investigate whether pressure from the Trump administration influenced the disciplinary process and to examine what they described as other potential breaches of political neutrality, including FIFA's decision to award Trump the FIFA Peace Prize.

According to the lawmakers, at least 35 members of the European Parliament have already signed the letter supporting the demand for an inquiry.

"The beauty of sport is that it is based on impartial and transparent rules. When political pressure determines who gets to play, that sense of fairness disappears," the legislators said.

The controversy has reignited debate over governance and transparency within world football's governing body at a time when the World Cup has entered its decisive knockout stages. While FIFA continues to insist that its judicial bodies operate independently, the lawmakers argue that only a formal ethics investigation can restore confidence in the organisation's decision-making process and ensure that sporting regulations are applied fairly and consistently, regardless of external political influence.

Captain leads remarkable late revival as defending champions overturn two-goal deficit against determined Egypt

Messi Magic Keeps Argentina Alive

ATLANTA

Lionel Messi once again proved why he remains football's greatest difference-maker, inspiring Argentina to a sensational late comeback as the defending champions recovered from two goals down to defeat Egypt 3-2 and book their place in the FIFA World Cup quarter-finals.

For nearly 75 minutes, Argentina looked destined for an early exit. Their usually reliable captain endured an unusually subdued afternoon, misplacing passes and even seeing a penalty saved—his second spot-kick failure of the tournament. Egypt, meanwhile, executed their counter-attacking plan to perfection and fully deserved their two-goal advantage.

Led by the experienced Mohamed Salah, with support from Mostafa Ziko and the lively Haissem Hassan, the Pharaohs repeatedly exposed Argentina's defence. They might even have extended their lead further had a marginal VAR decision not ruled out another goal.

As the second hydration break approached, the momentum was firmly with Egypt. With Cristiano Ronaldo already eliminated from the tournament a day earlier, the prospect of Messi joining his long-time rival on the sidelines appeared increasingly likely.

Instead, the 39-year-old orchestrated one of the most dramatic turnarounds of the World Cup.

The comeback began in the 77th minute when Messi floated a pinpoint cross into the penalty area for Cristian Romero to head home, breathing fresh life into Argentina's campaign. The goal transformed both the team and the atmosphere inside the stadium.

With Argentina throwing numbers forward, Messi continued to dictate proceedings. After setting up Lautaro Martinez with another dangerous delivery, the veteran forward seized his own opportunity moments later. Gonzalo Montiel's pass found Messi inside the box, and the captain calmly fired home his eighth goal of the tournament to level the scores. The victory preserved Argentina's bid for a fourth World Cup title and highlighted the enduring influence of Messi, whose leadership once again inspired his teammates when defeat seemed inevitable.

SWITZERLAND REACH FIRST WORLD CUP QUARTERS SINCE 1954

Ruben Vargas seals dramatic shootout victory as resilient Swiss script historic WC milestone

VANCOUVER

Switzerland reached the FIFA World Cup quarter-finals for the first time in 72 years after Ruben Vargas converted the winning penalty in a tense 4-3 shootout victory over Colombia following a goalless draw in their Round of 16 clash.

The hard-fought triumph at BC Place sent the Swiss into the last eight for the first time since they hosted the tournament in 1954. They will now face defending champions Argentina in Kansas City on Saturday after Lionel Messi's side completed a dramatic comeback victory over Egypt earlier in the day.

In a closely contested encounter, Switzerland relied on their disciplined defensive structure to frustrate an attack-minded Colombian side backed by a partisan crowd of 52,497, most of whom were dressed in yellow.

Neither team managed to break the deadlock through regulation or extra time despite creating several chances. Colombia came closest during extra time when Jhon Lucumi's powerful header struck the crossbar, while Switzerland also threatened through Fabian Reider and Dan Ndoye but failed to find the breakthrough.

The match was ultimately decided from the penalty spot, where Switzerland held their nerve. Colombia's hopes faded after defender Davinson Sanchez struck the crossbar and goalkeeper Gregor Kobel brilliantly denied Cucho Hernandez. Vargas, who had entered late after recovering from a minor fitness concern, calmly slotted home the decisive penalty to spark jubilant celebrations.

Kobel, one of Switzerland's standout performers, praised his teammates for overcoming adversity after injuries ruled out key players, including promising midfielder Johan Manzambi.

"They had the crowd behind them, so it was a tough game. We stayed mentally strong, and that's what made the difference," the goalkeeper said.

Switzerland coach Murat Yakin described the achievement as a proud moment for his country and welcomed the opportunity to face Argentina in the quarter-finals.

For Colombia, the defeat ended an impressive World Cup campaign that marked their return to the tournament after missing the 2022 edition. Midfielder John Arias admitted the loss was heartbreaking, saying the team had dreamed of going much further after receiving overwhelming support from fans.

Switzerland's resilience, defensive discipline and composure under pressure have carried them into the last eight, where they now face the formidable challenge of stopping Lionel Messi and the reigning world champions in one of the tournament's most anticipated quarter-final clashes.

GOTTERUP EMERGES AS GOLF'S NEW GLOBAL CONTENDER

NORTH BERWICK

Chris Gotterup's journey from an overlooked college golfer to one of the world's top-ranked players is a story of perseverance, adaptability and steady self-belief, with the American now emerging as one of golf's brightest young stars ahead of this week's Scottish Open.

Just a year ago, Gotterup arrived in Scotland ranked No. 158 in the world with only one PGA Tour victory to his name. Today, he returns as world No. 7 and one of the game's most consistent performers, having collected four PGA Tour titles over the past 12 months.

His breakthrough began with an emotional Scottish Open triumph last year, where he outplayed home favourite Rory McIlroy in front of a partisan crowd.

Since then, victories at the Sony Open, WM Phoenix Open and John Deere Classic have established the 26-year-old as one of the most dangerous players on tour.

Remarkably, Gotterup became the first golfer in at least 50 years to win three tournaments in a single season with final rounds of 64 or better, including a spectacular closing 62 at the John Deere Classic.

Despite his rapid ascent, the New Jersey native insists little has changed in his approach.

"I've just kept my head down and continued working hard with my coaches, family and girlfriend. We try to keep things simple," Gotterup said.

His path to success was far from conventional. Preferring to compete close to home during his junior years, Gotterup initially attended Rutgers University before transferring to Oklahoma, seeking stronger competition and more varied playing conditions after the COVID-19 pandemic disrupted college golf.

The move proved transformative. He swept the prestigious Ben Hogan, Haskins and Jack Nicklaus Awards as the nation's top collegiate golfer before turning professional.

His recent victories have demonstrated remarkable versatility, coming on vastly different courses—from the windswept Scottish coastline and breezy layouts in Hawaii to the desert conditions of Arizona and the tree-lined fairways of Illinois.

Now preparing for another Scottish Open featuring world No. 1 Scottie Scheffler, Rory McIlroy, Jon Rahm and Patrick Reed, Gotterup enters with heightened expectations.

Last year's victory also earned him his maiden Open Championship appearance, where he finished an impressive third at Royal Portrush.

Having proven his ability to succeed in diverse conditions around the world, Gotterup believes his best golf still lies ahead.

"I know what I'm capable of," he said. "Once you get a taste of success, you want more."

Egypt coach alleges FIFA bias after Argentina exit

ATLANTA

Egypt head coach Hossam Hassan has launched a scathing attack on FIFA and the match officials following his side's dramatic 3-2 defeat to Argentina in the FIFA World Cup Round of 16, alleging that the defending champions benefited from biased refereeing during their remarkable late comeback.

Egypt appeared on course for one of the biggest upsets of the tournament after taking a 2-0 lead through Yasser Ibrahim's first-half header and Mostafa Ziko's well-crafted strike in the 67th minute. The North Africans had earlier seen another Ziko goal ruled out following a VAR review for a foul in the build-up.

However, Argentina staged an extraordinary turnaround in the closing stages. Cristian Romero sparked the comeback in the 79th minute before Lionel Messi equalised five minutes later. Deep into stoppage time, Enzo Fernandez completed the revival with the winning goal to send the reigning champions into the quarter-finals.

The decisive goal sparked furious protests from the Egyptian bench, with players and coaching staff claiming Mohamed Salah had been fouled in the build-up. They argued the incident should have received the same scrutiny as the earlier disallowed Egyptian goal.

An emotional Hassan claimed Argentina had "received support at every level" and suggested external influences had shaped the outcome. "We looked better than the reigning champions, but the result was influenced by external factors off the pitch," Hassan told reporters.

The Egypt coach went further by alleging that FIFA wanted Lionel Messi and Argentina to remain in the competition, accusing football's governing body of denying his team a fair contest.

Hassan also criticised the referee's decisions throughout the match, revealing he had received a yellow card after confronting the official and making an anti-racism gesture during the heated exchanges.

"I told the referee that what was happening wasn't fair. It was an undeserved victory for Argentina," he said, adding that the controversial defeat had left him so disillusioned he no longer wished to watch the World Cup.

India's credit card market triples over past decade

New Delhi

India's credit card market has expanded more than threefold over the past decade, with younger consumers and residents of semi-urban and rural areas driving growth, according to a TransUnion CIBIL report. Credit card penetration stood at 25 percent of credit-active consumers as of March 2026, indicating significant growth potential. Cardholders increased from 1.4 crore in 2016 to 5.2 crore in 2026, while active cards reached 10.7 crore and outstanding balances climbed to Rs 3.1 lakh crore. The report also found many first-time cardholders already held multiple credit products, reflecting a deeper, more diversified, and increasingly formal consumer credit ecosystem across India.

Gold, silver slip amid rising middle east tensions

Mumbai

Gold and silver prices declined on Wednesday as heightened Middle East tensions weighed on commodity markets following fresh US military strikes on Iran. On the MCX, gold futures fell to around Rs 1,45,000 per 10 grams, while silver dropped to about Rs 2,29,400 per kg in early trade. International prices also weakened, with COMEX gold and silver trading lower. Analysts said both metals remain under pressure after falling below key technical levels, with rising open interest indicating fresh short positions. Meanwhile, crude oil prices surged over three percent as concerns over supply disruptions boosted global energy markets.

BIOFUEL SUPPLY RESILIENCE

Diversified feedstocks boost India's ethanol supply resilience

NEW DELHI

A diversified mix of grain feedstocks is strengthening India's ethanol supply resilience and supporting the country's biofuel expansion programme, the All India Distillers' Association (AIDA) said. The association highlighted that multiple raw materials are helping ensure stability in ethanol production and reduce dependence on any single feedstock. According to AIDA data, grain-based feedstocks have emerged as a major contributor to India's ethanol supplies during the Ethanol Supply Year (ESY) 2025–26. Grain-based ethanol accounted for nearly 67 percent of total supplies, with maize becoming one of the largest sources for production. The shift towards a broader

India-ASEAN bilateral trade touches $128 billion in FY26

India-ASEAN trade reaches $128 billion, boosting economic partnership through AITIGA review talks

NEW DELHI

Bilateral trade between India and the Association of South-east Asian Nations (ASEAN) reached $128 billion during 2025–26, highlighting the growing economic partnership and expanding opportunities for trade and investment cooperation, the Ministry of Commerce and Industry said on Wednesday. ASEAN continues to remain one of India's key trading partners, accounting for around 11 percent of India's total global trade, according to an official statement. To further strengthen economic ties, India is hosting the 13th ASEAN-India Trade in Goods Agreement Joint Committee Meeting and related discussions from July 6 to 10. The meetings are focused on reviewing progress under the AITIGA Review and improving the framework governing trade in goods between India and ASEAN nations. The Joint Committee meeting provided strategic guidance to various sub-committees and called for faster completion of pending chapters under the EPFO completes CITES database migration, enabling faster claims, automated services, and seamless access for millions of provident fund members nationwide.

EPFO completes CITES project to modernise member services

NEW DELHI

The Employees' Provident Fund Organisation (EPFO) has completed the migration of its entire member records database to a new centralised national database under the Centralised IT Enabled Services (CITES) Project, aimed at modernising service delivery through automation and rule-based processing. The initiative is expected to improve operational efficiency, enhance transparency, and provide faster, citizen-centric services to millions of EPFO members. Under the new system, service requests will no longer remain linked to a specific regional office and can be processed from any authorised location across India. The CITES Project introduces several features, including faster annual interest credit, easier access to account information, quicker claim settlements, automatic provident fund transfers after job changes, and simplified pension-related services. For the financial year 2025-26, EPFO's annual interest rate of 8.25 percent will be automatically processed for around 34 crore member accounts involving an estimated amount of over Rs 1.44 lakh crore. After verification by field authorities, members will be able to view the interest credit in their passbooks by July 15. Earlier, such credits often took several months after the interest rate announcement. The new unified digital interface will allow members to access their membership details, provident fund balances, claim status, pensionable service records, and benefits through a single platform. Previously, member information was spread across multiple systems. EPFO said automated pre-validation of claims will identify errors and missing information before processing, reducing rejection rates and improving first-time approval chances. The auto-settlement limit for fully KYC-linked advance claims has also been increased from Rs 1 lakh to Rs 5 lakh. The centralised payment system will enable faster electronic settlements directly into members' bank accounts on the day of approval. Members changing jobs will also benefit from automatic transfer of Aadhaar-linked Universal Account Number (UAN) accounts without submitting separate transfer applications. Pensioners under the Employees' Pension Scheme (EPS) will now be able to access services from any PF office and submit life certificates more conveniently through the centralised system.

Digital economy drives India's future growth and inclusion: Ahluwalia

NEW DELHI

India's digital economy has emerged as a key pillar of the country's future economic and social advancement, experts said at a conclave on digital payments held in the national capital. They highlighted the need to balance innovation with trust, resilience, consumer protection, and inclusive growth to sustain the momentum of digital transformation. The Digital Payments conclave was organised by Chintan Research Foundation in partnership with Ikigai Law and Koan Advisory Group. The event brought together policymakers, regulators, industry leaders, legal experts, technologists, and researchers to discuss the future of India's digital payments ecosystem and the policy framework required for its expansion. In his inaugural address, Sanjeev Ahluwalia said Digital Public Infrastructure (DPI) and digital payments have played a transformative role in expanding financial inclusion and improving economic efficiency. Deepak Mishra said digitalisation cannot simply be adopted from elsewhere but must be built on strong human capital, institutional trust, and sustained investment. He added that current users of artificial intelligence (AI) could become future innovators if they engage with emerging technologies responsibly. Rajat Kathuria highlighted that India's digital public infrastructure, built on trust, can boost productivity through research, data infrastructure, and high-value digital services. However, he stressed the importance of protecting identity, consent, and accessibility. Experts also discussed the next phase of digital payments. National Payments Corporation of India former COO Balakrishnan Mahadevan said the future of Unified Payments Interface should focus on resilience, redundancy, and AI-based fraud detection. Participants also called for stronger cybersecurity measures, improved consumer awareness, and coordinated efforts to tackle digital fraud. They said these steps will help build a secure, inclusive, and globally competitive digital payments ecosystem aligned with India's vision of Viksit Bharat 2047.

Airbus Airplane Deliveries Jump 15 %

Airbus is picking up speed. The European aviation giant announced that it delivered 351 airplanes during the first half of 2026. This represents a solid 15% increase compared to the 306 jets handed over during the same period last year. In June alone, the company successfully delivered 89 aircraft. Industry experts believe these numbers put Airbus in a good position to meet its official goal of 870 total deliveries by the end of the year. There is even growing confidence within the company that it might reach an informal target of 900, though its formal guidance remains unchanged for now. The progress comes despite ongoing challenges. Earlier this year, the manufacturer faced significant supply chain issues and engine shortages that slowed down production, particularly during the first quarter. These hurdles allowed its American rival, Boeing, to briefly take the lead in delivery numbers earlier in the year. However, with engine availability now improving, Airbus is gaining momentum. Historically, the pace of aircraft deliveries tends to increase during the second half of the year, providing further optimism for the planemaker. In addition to its delivery success, the group reported strong sales activity.

Samson's omission sparks debate over India's selection policy

CHENNAI

Sanju Samson's omission from India's T20I squad for the upcoming Zimbabwe tour has reignited questions over the national selectors' approach, with the wicketkeeper-batter's exclusion coming less than two days after he lost his place in the playing XI during the ongoing series against England.

The 31-year-old, who was replaced by teenage opener Vaibhav Sooryavanshi for the second T20I, has also been left out of the three-match Zimbabwe series beginning July 23. In his place, the selectors have picked fellow wicketkeeper-opener Prabhsimran Singh.

What has added to the confusion is the absence of any official clarification from the selection committee. The BCCI announcement neither stated that Samson had been rested nor that he had been dropped, leaving room for speculation about his future in India's T20 plans.

The omission comes despite Samson's remarkable contribution to India's triumphant 2026 T20 World Cup campaign, where he was named Player of the Tournament after producing three match-winning knocks, including decisive performances in the semifinal and final. His recent run of scores reads 97 not out, 89, 89, followed by 5, 0 and 1.

While Samson remains part of India's squad for the Asian Games in Japan, where cricket will also be played in the T20 format, experts have questioned the logic behind resting a player who features in only one international format.

Former India off-spinner Ravichandran Ashwin also criticised the move, suggesting the decision could create uncertainty within the dressing room. Ashwin argued that frequent changes despite strong performances could affect player confidence and send an unsettling message to the rest of the squad.

Samson's international career has been marked by repeated comebacks after being sidelined.

Since becoming an opener in 2024, he has alternated between starring performances and unexpected exclusions as India reshuffled combinations involving Abhishek Sharma, Shubman Gill and Ishan Kishan.

The selectors appear keen to accelerate India's transition by backing young talents such as Vaibhav Sooryavanshi and Prabhsimran Singh. However, Samson's latest omission has once again highlighted concerns over consistency, transparency and long-term planning, leaving more questions than answers about India's T20 selection strategy.

Laxman set to coach India on Zimbabwe tour

NEW DELHI

Former India batter V.V.S. Laxman is set to take charge of the Indian men's team for the upcoming Zimbabwe tour and the Asian Games campaign as the Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI) prepares to manage a demanding international schedule with split squads.

According to reports, Laxman, who heads the BCCI's Centre of Excellence, will replace regular head coach Gautam Gambhir for the two assignments while Gambhir remains with the senior side for the home white-ball series against the West Indies.

India will tour Zimbabwe later this month for a three-match T20I series in Harare on July 23, 25 and 27. The Asian Games men's cricket competition will then be held in Aichi-Nagoya, Japan, from September 24 to October 3.

The Asian Games schedule overlaps with the West Indies' tour of India, which features three One-Day Internationals and five T20 Internationals between September 27 and October 17. As a result, the BCCI is expected to field separate squads and coaching cricketers.

The split schedule could also require different captains for the parallel campaigns. Shreyas Iyer currently leads India's T20I side, while Shubman Gill captains the ODI and Test teams. The selectors are expected to finalise the leadership arrangements closer to the tours.

The Zimbabwe series is likely to provide opportunities for promising youngsters and players on the fringes of the national team to stake their claim ahead of a busy international season. Similarly, the Asian Games will offer another platform for India's next generation to gain valuable international exposure.

With international cricket becoming increasingly crowded, the BCCI has frequently relied on parallel squads and stand-in coaching staff in recent years. Laxman's anticipated appointment reflects the board's continued confidence in his ability to guide India's emerging talent while ensuring continuity in the team's long-term development.

Kumble blasts India's batting collapse after England thrashing

NEW DELHI

Former India captain Anil Kumble has termed India's 125-run defeat to England in the third T20I at Trent Bridge an "abject surrender", questioning the team's tactics, selection policy and inability to adapt under pressure.

Kumble said a world champion side should not have been bowled out for 76 while chasing 202, praising England pacers Jofra Archer and Josh Tongue for executing their plans perfectly.

He criticised India's batters for adopting an overly aggressive approach instead of showing patience against quality pace bowling. Kumble also questioned the frequent changes to the playing XI, particularly in the bowling unit, saying captain Shreyas Iyer needs a settled attack.

The former skipper further criticised the decision to promote Harshit Rana ahead of Shivam Dube and expressed surprise over Kuldeep Yadav's exclusion from both the England and Zimbabwe squads.

Former India all-rounder Abhishek Nayar attributed India's struggles to fatigue, unfamiliar conditions and poor confidence, urging the support staff to rebuild belief as England secured an unassailable 2-0 lead in the five-match series.

India capitulate as England seal 125-run win, take 2-0 series lead

NOTTINGHAM

India endured one of their most humiliating batting collapses in T20 Internationals, crashing to a record 125-run defeat against England in the third T20I at Trent Bridge as the hosts surged to an unassailable 2-0 lead in the five-match series.

Chasing a challenging 202, India were bundled out for just 76 in 11.4 overs after England's pace duo of Jofra Archer and Josh Tongue ripped through the top order with hostile spells. Tongue returned outstanding figures of 4/28, while Archer claimed 3/29, leaving India's batting in tatters inside the Powerplay.

The contest was effectively over when India slumped to 52/5 in five overs, with poor shot selection, reckless strokeplay and questionable tactics contributing to the visitors' downfall. It became India's heaviest defeat in T20Is in terms of runs.

Captain Shreyas Iyer's lean run continued as his side suffered a fifth consecutive winless outing under head coach Gautam Gambhir. The decision to promote Harshit Rana ahead of Shivam Dube during the chase also raised eyebrows.

Teenage sensation Vaibhav Sooryavanshi briefly entertained with two towering sixes, including one each off Archer and Tongue, before falling for 13 to a sharp bouncer. Abhishek Sharma, Ishan Kishan, Iyer and Axar Patel all perished cheaply as England's fast bowlers exploited the conditions brilliantly.

Earlier, opener Phil Salt struck a composed 70 off 44 balls to anchor England to 201/7 despite an impressive opening spell from Arshdeep Singh. Jos Buttler contributed a brisk 36, while Sam Curran provided the late fireworks with an unbeaten 41 off 24 deliveries, helping England collect 89 runs in the final eight overs.

India's pacers Harshit Rana (2/40), Prince Yadav (2/30) and Arshdeep had moments of success, but the spinners struggled to contain England's aggressive middle order, with Axar Patel conceding 49 runs and Varun Chakravarthy going wicketless.

With the opening match washed out by rain, England's emphatic victory gives them an unbeatable 2-0 lead, while India face the daunting task of restoring pride in the remaining two matches.

IOC provisionally lifts Russian Olympic Committee suspension ahead of Los Angeles 2028

LAUSANNE

The International Olympic Committee (IOC) has provisionally lifted the suspension of the Russian Olympic Committee (ROC), paving the way for Russia's gradual return to the Olympic movement ahead of the 2028 Los Angeles Games.

The decision, announced by the IOC Executive Board, ends a suspension imposed in October 2023 after the ROC recognised regional Olympic councils in the Russian-occupied Ukrainian territories of Luhansk, Donetsk, Kherson and Zaporizhzhia. The IOC had ruled that the move violated the Olympic Charter and undermined the territorial integrity of Ukraine's National Olympic Committee.

While the suspension has been lifted, the IOC clarified that no decision has yet been taken on whether Russia will be permitted to compete under its national flag, wear its official colours or have its anthem played at future Olympic Games. "The decision was taken following a thorough analysis by the IOC's Legal Affairs Commission," the governing body said, adding that the ROC no longer includes sports organisations from territories under the jurisdiction of Ukraine's Olympic Committee.

The IOC also stated that the ROC had confirmed it would neither conduct nor support sporting activities in the disputed territories. However, it emphasised that the situation would continue to be monitored closely and reserved the right to impose fresh measures if necessary.

Russian Sports Minister Mikhail Degtyarev welcomed the development, describing it as a major breakthrough for Russian sport.

"Our country's return to the Olympic family is a green light for international federations to reinstate all our athletes," Degtyarev said.

Russian athletes have competed as neutrals in recent Olympic events, including the 2024 Paris Summer Olympics and the 2026 Milano-Cortina Winter Games, following restrictions imposed after Russia's invasion of Ukraine in February 2022.

The IOC's latest move signals a cautious easing of sanctions while maintaining conditions linked to compliance with the Olympic Charter. Individual international sports federations will now determine when and how Russian athletes can return to their competitions.

Djokovic survives marathon to set up Wimbledon semi-final against Sinner

LONDON

Novak Djokovic produced one of the most courageous performances of his illustrious career, battling through injury and exhaustion to defeat Canada's Felix Auger-Aliassime in the longest Wimbledon quarter-final on record and book a blockbuster semi-final against defending champion Jannik Sinner.

The seven-time Wimbledon champion prevailed 7-6 (12/10), 3-6, 6-3, 6-7 (4/7), 7-6 (10/4) after an epic five hours and 15 minutes on Centre Court, keeping alive his quest for a record 25th Grand Slam title and an eighth Wimbledon crown. The 39-year-old Serb suffered a left calf injury during the opening set and required lengthy medical treatment. Despite obvious discomfort, Djokovic recovered to edge a gripping first-set tie-break before digging deep to overcome the third-seeded Canadian in sweltering conditions.

"It was with a racquet and a lot of heart," Djokovic said after the match. "These are the moments I still play tennis for."

The victory sends Djokovic into a record-extending 15th Wimbledon semi-final and his 55th Grand Slam last-four appearance. It is also his eighth consecutive Wimbledon semi-final, surpassing Roger Federer's previous record for the longest streak of men's singles semi-final appearances at the All England Club.

Djokovic will now face world No. 1 Jannik Sinner, who advanced comfortably with a straight-sets victory over Germany's Jan-Lennard Struff earlier on Tuesday. While Sinner enjoyed a relatively straightforward passage into the last four, Djokovic endured a physically draining contest that could test his recovery before Friday's showdown. The Serbian great leads Sinner 5-6 in their overall rivalry and has beaten the Italian twice previously at Wimbledon, although Sinner prevailed in last year's semi-final before Djokovic gained revenge at the Australian Open earlier this season.

Afghanistan mourns Shapoor Zadran as former pacer dies at 38

NEW DELHI

Afghanistan cricket was plunged into mourning after former left-arm fast bowler Shapoor Zadran passed away at the age of 38 following a prolonged battle with the rare and life-threatening Hemophagocytic Lymphohistiocytosis (HLH) syndrome, a severe disorder that compromises the body's immune system.

The Afghanistan Cricket Board (ACB) announced the death of the veteran pacer, paying glowing tribute to one of the pioneers who helped lay the foundation for the country's remarkable rise in international cricket.

"With profound grief and deep sorrow, the Afghanistan Cricket Board mourns the passing of former Afghanistan fast bowler Shapoor Zadran," the board said in a statement, describing him as one of the architects of Afghanistan's cricketing journey.

Standing 6ft 2in tall, Zadran was known for his flowing long hair, aggressive pace bowling and fighting spirit. He represented Afghanistan in 44 One-Day Internationals and 36 T20 Internationals between 2009 and 2020, becoming a key figure during the nation's rapid ascent in world cricket.

The left-arm seamer enjoyed one of the finest moments of his career at the 2015 ICC Cricket World Cup, where he emerged as Afghanistan's leading wicket-taker with 10 wickets. He finished his ODI career with 43 wickets, including best figures of 4/24 against the Netherlands on his debut in August 2009.
