Speaking to the media during his visit to Vidhana Soudha, Kumaraswamy said destiny and public support would determine his future presence in the state legislature. He also said that his party remains committed to alliance politics, working in coordination with central and state leaders to regain public confidence.

Bengaluru Pushes Adoption Drive for Community Dogs

CH NEWS, BENGALURU The Bengaluru Central City Corporation has directed officials to launch a citywide campaign promoting the adoption of community dogs. At a meeting with animal husbandry officials and NGOs, Additional Commissioner (Development) Daljit Kumar stressed that adoption initiatives must complement ongoing Animal Birth Control (ABC) and Anti-Rabies Vaccination (ARV) programmes. He instructed that all dogs undergo proper health check-ups and vaccinations before adoption. Officials were also asked to strictly follow Supreme Court of India guidelines on managing community dogs and ensure cleanliness at ABC centres.

IMD issues heat alert as Karnataka temperatures surge

CH NEWS, BENGALURU The India Meteorological Department has issued a warning over rising temperatures across Karnataka, urging residents to take precautions before stepping outdoors. According to officials, cities including Bengaluru are expected to witness a steady rise in temperatures over the next five days. The city, currently recording around 35°C, may see temperatures climb to 37–38°C, with intense heat likely between 11 am and 3 pm. Northern interior districts such as Bidar, Raichur and Kalaburagi could experience extreme heat ranging between 42°C and 44°C, prompting health advisories.

New Bengaluru Civic Bodies Struggle to Find Space for Council Halls

OF THE FIVE CORPORATIONS, FOUR LACK DEDICATED SPACES FOR COUNCIL MEETINGS

CH NEWS, BENGALURU

With elections to the newly formed city corporations approaching, officials are grappling with a major logistical hurdle — finding suitable spaces to host council meetings and administrative offices.

Of the five civic bodies, only the existing council building at NR Square, under the Bengaluru Central City Corporation, is currently equipped to conduct council sessions.

The remaining four corporations are yet to identify or develop dedicated "halls of power" for their elected representatives. Both the Bengaluru North City Corporation and Bengaluru South City Corporation have allocated funds in their recent budgets but lack concrete infrastructure plans.

Each is expected to accommodate 72 corporators after elections, making space planning an urgent priority.

BNCC Commissioner Pom-mala Sunil Kumar said the corporation is exploring short-term solutions such as renting commercial spaces, particularly along Airport Road, to house council proceedings. However, he acknowledged that this may not be financially sustainable in the long run. As a permanent solution, BNCC has proposed constructing a dedicated headquarters and council hall, earmarking Rs 40 crore for the project. The commissioner has approached the University of Agricultural Sciences, GKVK, seeking 3–5 acres of land. The proposed facility aims to consolidate currently scattered offices across Bytarayanapura, Dasarahalli and other areas. However, sources indicate that the university has not responded positively so far.

Meanwhile, the South corporation has set aside Rs 150 crore to build its own office complex on a site opposite the Banashankari Temple along Kanakapura Road. At present, it operates from a temporary office in Jayanagar.

With time running out before elections, the race to secure functional administrative spaces has become a pressing concern for Bengaluru's evolving civic landscape.

Peenya Flyover Load Testing Postponed, Traffic to Move as Usual

CH NEWS, BENGALURU

The scheduled load testing of the Peenya Elevated Flyover on National Highway-4 has been postponed, bringing relief to commuters as no traffic restrictions will be enforced for now.

The testing, which was planned from 5 am on Monday until April 17, was part of the final phase following recent cable repair works. Earlier, the Bengaluru City Traffic Police had announced temporary restrictions on all vehicular movement along the flyover during the testing period.

As per the earlier advisory, traffic was to be halted on both sides of the flyover between Kennametal Vidya Upper Ramp and SRS Down Ramp. Commuters travelling from Nelamangala towards the city were advised to use the NH-4 main road and service roads via Dasarahalli, Jalahalli Cross, Peenya Police Station Junction and Gora-guntepalya.

Similarly, those heading towards Nelamangala were to take diversions through SRS

Junction and surrounding stretches.

However, with the postponement of the load testing, authorities have clarified that vehicular movement will continue without any restrictions, easing concerns for daily commuters and transport operators using the busy corridor.

Meanwhile, in a separate initiative to tackle rising congestion and improve road safety, the traffic police, in collaboration with the Institute of Road Traffic Education (IRTE) and Diageo India, have conducted a detailed study at key junctions across the city.

Locations including Chalkukya Circle, Cantonment Railway Station Junction and H Siddaiah Circle were analysed for traffic flow, pedestrian movement and safety challenges.

The study has recommended several low-cost improvements such as better lane segregation, pedestrian safety islands, enhanced signal systems and improved signage, aimed at easing congestion and ensuring safer roads in Bengaluru.

Speeding Reversing Car Kills Man near Mysuru Road Bus Stand

CH NEWS, BENGALURU

A 45-year-old man was killed in a tragic early morning accident near the Mysuru Road Satellite Bus Stand after a speeding car, reversing recklessly, rammed into him and pinned him against a parked bus.

The deceased, M Swamy Dorai, a fruit vendor from Siddhartha Colony near Sriganthada Kaval, had just returned from Tamil Nadu with his wife Jayashree after attending a relative's funeral. The couple was standing by the roadside, waiting to cross, when the incident occurred in full view of his wife.

According to police, a Hyundai i10 was parked in a designated area near a hotel close to the Kerala bus exit gate. The vehicle owner had handed over the keys to a parking attendant. However, the accused, identified as Balasubramanyam, a marketing executive, allegedly took the keys under the pretext of repositioning the car, despite not being authorised.

He then reversed the vehicle at high speed, hitting Dorai, dragging him and crushing him against a stationary bus belonging to a blood bank. Dorai died on the spot, while his wife collapsed after witnessing the horrific incident.

The accused fled immediately, but bystanders rushed the victim to Victoria Hospital, where he was declared dead on arrival.

The Byatarayanapura Traffic Police later traced and arrested the accused. An alcometer test revealed a reading of 89 gm/100 ml, indicating heavy intoxication at the time of the incident.

Based on a complaint filed by the victim's son, a case has been registered under Section 105 of the BNS for culpable homicide not amounting to murder. The accused has been remanded to judicial custody.

High Court Enhances Compensation to ₹51.6 Lakh for Kin of Accident Victim

CH NEWS, BENGALURU

The Karnataka High Court has enhanced compensation to ₹51.6 lakh for the family of a deceased government employee, dismissing claims of contributory negligence raised by the insurer of a Kerala-registered car involved in a fatal road accident nearly a decade ago.

The victim, Shahabuddin Khan, was serving as a first division assistant in the revenue department. On October 10, 2016, he was travelling from Bengaluru to Ooty along the Nanjagud-Gundlupet highway when a car coming from the opposite direction collided with his vehicle. Khan succumbed to severe injuries, while his teenage son and daughter were injured in the crash.

Following the incident, Khan's wife and children approached the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal, which in June 2023 awarded ₹41.5 lakh to the wife, ₹4.7 lakh to the son and ₹3.5 lakh to the daughter.

The tribunal had fixed full liability on National Insurance Company Ltd, the insurer of the offending vehicle. Challenging the ruling, the insurer argued before the High Court that contributory negligence by the vehicle in which Khan was travelling had not been considered.

However, the claimants countered this by pointing to the spot sketch, which indicated that the Kerala-registered car had veered to the wrong side and caused the collision.

A division bench comprising Justices S G Pandit and K V Aravind, after examining the evidence, observed that the offending vehicle had significantly more road space on its side compared to the victim's vehicle, clearly establishing negligence on the part of its driver.

The court also noted that Khan's annual military pension of ₹2 lakh, earned as an ex-serviceman, had not been factored into the original compensation calculation. Taking this into account, the bench revised the total compensation to ₹51.6 lakh in the main claim.

ACTION TO SAVE LIVES

Helipad Plan at Jnana Bharathi to Boost Emergency Care Access

CH NEWS, BENGALURU

A proposal to establish an air ambulance helipad at the Jnana Bharathi Campus is under consideration, aiming to significantly improve emergency medical response in traffic-clogged parts of the city.

The initiative was put forward by MLC Dinesh Gooligowda, who highlighted the urgent need for faster healthcare access in a letter to the Higher Education Minister. Acting on the request, the minister has directed authorities to assess the feasibility of the project, with Bengaluru University Vice-Chancellor tasked with submitting a detailed report.

The proposed helipad is intended to cater primarily to Bengaluru's south and west zones, where traffic congestion often delays ambulances. Officials point out that road traffic frequently hampers emergency services, with several instances of patients failing to reach hospitals in time.

The plan emphasises the importance of the "golden hour" — the critical window following an accident or medical emergency when prompt treatment can save lives. In cases such as heart attacks, trauma incidents and organ transplants, air ambulance services can drastically cut travel time and improve survival chances.

However, the project faces several regulatory hurdles. The lush greenery of the Jnana Bharathi campus means clearance from the Forest Department will be essential before any construction begins.

Additionally, approvals from the Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA) are mandatory for setting up and operating a helipad.

Authorities will also need to carry out site inspections and environmental assessments before granting final clearance.

Only after securing all permissions can the project move to the execution stage.

For now, the proposal remains under review, with further progress dependent on the university's feasibility report and subsequent approvals from concerned agencies.

Senior Citizen Duped of ₹6.4 Lakh in Fake Old Currency Deal

CH NEWS, BENGALURU

A 67-year-old man from Ejipura was allegedly cheated of ₹6.4 lakh in a cyber fraud after being lured with a promise of ₹1.7 crore for his collection of old currency notes and coins.

According to police, the victim came across a Facebook account under the name "Rahul Kumar Jindal" on April 6, which advertised lucrative deals for rare currency collections. Intrigued, he contacted the numbers listed on the profile and shared photographs of his notes and coins.

Soon after, the fraudsters assured him of a payout of ₹1.7 crore and began communicating through multiple phone numbers. They convinced him to transfer money in phases under various pretexts, including income tax, TDS and GST charges.

Between April 6 and April 7, the victim transferred ₹6,39,000 through RTGS, NEFT and digital payment platforms to several bank accounts provided by the accused. The fraudsters claimed they would soon collect the currency but continued demanding additional payments. When the victim realised he had been duped and sought a refund, the accused stopped responding.

A case has been registered at the Central Cyber Crime Police Station under provisions of the Information Technology Act and Section 318 (cheating) of the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita.

Police officials said efforts are underway to trace the accused.

Iran warns 'no port safe' as US moves to blockade Hormuz

Tensions surge as Tehran vows retaliation against sweeping US naval blockade

TEHRAN

Iran has issued a stark warning that "no port in the region will be safe" after the United States announced a naval blockade targeting Iranian maritime routes following failed ceasefire talks.

The escalation comes amid the ongoing West Asia conflict, with both sides hardening their positions after 21-hour negotiations in Pakistan ended without agreement. The US military confirmed that the blockade would apply to vessels entering or exiting Iranian ports across the Persian Gulf and Gulf of Oman.

Iranian leaders responded swiftly, warning of broad retaliation. Parliament speaker Mohammad Bagher Qalibaf delivered a blunt message: "If you fight, we will fight." Military officials added that regional security would be "for everyone or no one," signalling potential disruption to key shipping hubs.

energy supplies, has already seen reduced vessel traffic since hostilities began. Analysts warn that the blockade could severely disrupt oil shipments and trigger further volatility in global markets.

US officials, including Vice President J. D. Vance, blamed Iran's refusal to curb its nuclear programme for the breakdown in talks. Meanwhile, Tehran accused Washington of

"maximalist demands" and shifting conditions at the negotiating table.

Despite the rising tensions, some diplomatic channels remain open, with regional players pushing for an extended ceasefire window. However, with threats intensifying and military posturing increasing, the risk of a broader regional conflict looms large.

INDIA GETS FIRST IRANIAN OIL IN SEVEN YEARS

NEW DELHI

India has received its first shipment of Iranian crude oil in seven years, according to ship tracking data from LSEG, marking a notable shift in energy trade flows.

The Iran-flagged VLCC Felicity has arrived at Sikka Port in western India, while the Curacao-flagged vessel Jaya has reached a port in Odisha, the data showed.

The development comes as Indian refiners take advantage of a temporary waiver granted by the United States last month, allowing limited crude purchases from Tehran after a long gap. India, the world's third-largest oil importer, had stopped receiving Iranian oil cargoes since 2019 under US sanctions pressure.

Each very large crude carrier (VLCC) can transport nearly 2 million barrels of crude oil, making the shipments significant for refinery operations and supply planning.

According to reports, Indian Oil Corporation has purchased Iranian crude transported on sanctioned vessels, while Reliance Industries has also been permitted to procure oil from select Iranian shipments.

The current US waiver is set to expire on April 19, adding uncertainty to future imports and refinery sourcing strategies. The arrival of these cargoes marks a rare reopening of a supply channel that had remained closed for years amid geopolitical tensions and sanctions-related restrictions.

Women's Reservation Act will shape India's future, says PM Modi

NEW DELHI

Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Monday said India is on the verge of creating "new history" with the proposed amendments to the Women's Reservation Act, enabling its implementation ahead of the 2029 general elections.

Addressing the 'Nari Shakti Vandan Sammelan' at Vigyan Bhawan, Modi said the move would "realise the visions of the past and fulfil the resolutions of the future," emphasising that the legislation would strengthen women's representation in governance.

The law, officially known as the Nari Shakti Vandan Adhiniyam, was passed unanimously by Parliament in 2023, providing for 33 per cent reservation for women in the Lok Sabha and state assemblies. However, its implementation was initially linked to the delimitation exercise after the 2027 Census, delaying enforcement until 2034.

Our country's Parliament is close to creating a new history... a decision dedicated to the empowerment of women.

—Narendra Modi, Prime Minister

The proposed changes aim to advance the rollout to 2029, increasing Lok Sabha strength to 816 seats, with 273 reserved for women. Modi noted that even Opposition parties had earlier supported faster implementation, calling it a collective national commitment.

The development marks a significant step toward enhancing gender equity in India's political landscape, with the government positioning it as one of the most consequential reforms of the 21st century.

Guarantee schemes are also a form of development: CM Siddaramaiah Siddaramaiah noted that Karnataka's GDP growth stands at 8.1%, higher than the Centre's 7.14%.

CHIKKAMAGALURU

Chief Minister Siddaramaiah said that the government's guarantee schemes aimed at public welfare are also a form of development, and asserted that despite these guarantees, the state's financial condition is better than that of the Centre.

He was speaking after inaugurating a bridge built across the Bhadra backwaters connecting Handuru village to Narasimharajapura, along with launching multiple development projects and distributing benefits.

The bridge, constructed at a cost of ₹36 crore, is among several initiatives launched. Hitting back at Opposition criticism that the treasury is empty due to guarantees, he said the government has managed both welfare schemes and development simultaneously.

"Guarantees are also a form of development," he said, adding that B. R. Ambedkar had stressed that political freedom must be supported by economic, social, and educational empowerment.

The CM alleged injustice by the Centre, stating that although ₹5,300 crore was announced for the Bhadra Upper Canal project in the 2023-24 Budget, no funds have been released so far.

He further said the state has spent ₹1.30 lakh crore on guarantee schemes, while accusing the BJP of criticising them in Karnataka but replicating similar measures elsewhere.

Highlighting economic indicators, Siddaramaiah noted that Karnataka's GDP growth stands at 8.1%, higher than the Centre's 7.14%. He also claimed the state's financial health remains strong and compliant with fiscal responsibility norms.

Accusing the BJP of spreading misinformation, he said the Centre has failed to fulfil promises, while his government has delivered on its commitments.

Bengal will answer bombs with ballots, UCC will follow: Amit Shah

NEW DELHI

Union Home Minister Amit Shah on Monday declared that the people of West Bengal would respond to "bombs and bullets with votes," while vowing to implement the Uniform Civil Code (UCC) if the BJP comes to power in the state.

Addressing multiple election rallies across Birbhum and Paschim Bardhaman districts, Shah launched a sharp attack on Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee and the Trinamool Congress (TMC), accusing them of promoting corruption, lawlessness, and appeasement politics. He alleged that political violence has become widespread under the current regime, but asserted that voters would deliver a decisive mandate through the ballot.

"The people of Bengal will reply to bombs with votes. Once BJP forms the government, justice will prevail and those responsible for violence will be held accountable," Shah said.

Union Home Minister Amit Shah said the Modi government has eliminated Naxalism in the country and now it is time to expel infiltrators.

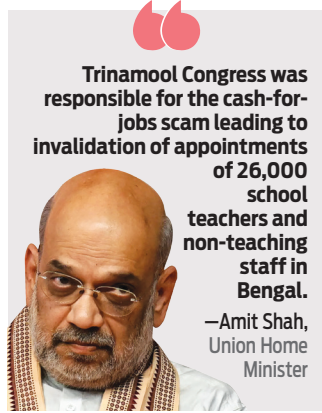

Reiterating the party's stand on the Uniform Civil Code, he said that once implemented, it would end practices such as multiple marriages by some individuals, adding that the BJP remains committed to enforcing uniform laws across the country.

introduce the UCC in West Bengal to ensure equal laws for all citizens. He argued that such a move would promote uniformity and fairness in civil matters across communities.

Shah also accused the TMC government of shielding infiltrators and failing to safeguard the state's borders, claiming that the BJP would take decisive steps to address illegal immigration. He added that border infrastructure, including fencing, would be strengthened within a short time if the party assumes office. Highlighting alleged scams and governance failures, Shah said funds recovered from corruption cases would be returned to the people, particularly women and youth. He also promised industrial growth and welfare measures as part of the BJP's broader development agenda.

With polling dates approaching, Shah's remarks signal an intensified campaign as the BJP seeks to expand its political footprint in West Bengal.

SC stays HC order on IAS officer Sindhuri case

NEW DELHI

The Supreme Court on Monday stayed the Karnataka High Court's order directing sanction to prosecute IAS officer Rohini Sindhuri in the alleged 2021 Mysuru "cloth bag scam." A bench of Justices Dipankar Datta and Satish Chandra Sharma issued notice on her plea challenging the FIR approval. The case involves alleged inflated procurement of eco-friendly bags, causing losses to the exchequer. The High Court had earlier allowed investigation despite departmental clearance. Proceedings are now paused pending further hearing.

MANGALURU

A wild elephant that fell into an unused open well near Peraje in the Sullia forest range of Dakshina Kannada district was successfully rescued by forest officials on Monday after a swift and coordinated operation.

The incident is believed to have occurred on Sunday night when the elephant accidentally slipped into the several-feet-deep well located at the foothills of the Western Ghats along the Dakshina Kannada-Kodagu border. Forest personnel, alerted early Monday, rushed to the spot and immediately launched rescue efforts.

Officials deployed earthmovers to carefully remove soil around the well and created a gradual slope to enable the animal to climb out safely.

After hours of effort, the elephant managed to walk out of the pit unhurt and is believed to have returned to the nearby forest. The operation concluded around 1 pm.

"The elephant has been rescued. No injuries are seen. It is healthy," a senior forest officer said.

Local residents noted that a herd of elephants had been moving through the region in recent days, and the rescued animal may have strayed from the group. Dakshina Kannada district has witnessed frequent human-elephant interactions, often leading to crop damage and safety concerns.

The successful rescue highlights the prompt response and preparedness of forest officials in handling wildlife emergencies, preventing potential harm to both the animal and nearby communities.

HC rejects plea to increase maintenance in marital dispute

HC dismisses both petitions, citing husband's unemployment and wife's income.

CH NEWS, BENGALURU

The High Court has ruled that an unemployed husband cannot be compelled to increase maintenance payments to his working wife, dismissing petitions filed by both parties in a marital dispute over alimony.

The order was passed by a bench headed by Justice V Sreeshananda, which heard separate pleas from the wife seeking enhanced maintenance and the husband requesting cancellation of the existing order under the Domestic Violence Act. The court upheld the Family Court's directive requiring the wife to pay a total of ₹9,000 per month to the husband.

The bench observed that the husband's claim over ancestral property could not be treated as a valid ground to enhance maintenance. It noted that the property had not yet been partitioned and that mere ownership claims do not automatically translate into financial capacity. The court also pointed out that the husband owns one acre of land, which has been mortgaged twice to secure loans.

Despite his financial constraints, the court acknowledged that the husband has been paying maintenance by borrowing money, indicating his compliance with the order. At the same time, it highlighted that the wife is gainfully employed and earns a substantial income, making an increase in maintenance unjustified.

The couple, married in 2009, had been embroiled in legal proceedings following allegations of dowry harassment and domestic issues. Earlier courts had upheld the maintenance arrangement, which was again challenged before the High Court.

After considering all arguments, the bench concluded that there was no merit in either plea and dismissed both petitions, affirming the existing maintenance order.

Barking Sparks Brutality: Man Assaults Pet Dog, CCTV Captures Incident

CH NEWS, BENGALURU

A shocking incident of animal cruelty has surfaced from Nelamangala, where a man allegedly assaulted a pet dog with a wooden stick after it barked at his wife.

The incident occurred in Averehalli locality, sending concern among residents over rising cases of cruelty against animals.

The dog, named Scooby, belongs to Anjinappa, a resident of the area. The accused, identified as Gopi, is said to be a neighbour.

According to the complaint, the episode began when Scooby barked at Gopi's wife as she walked past the house and allegedly attempted to chase her. Angered by the incident, Gopi reportedly decided to retaliate.

Later that night, around 8:30 pm, Gopi allegedly approached Anjinappa's house armed with a wooden stick. In a disturbing act caught on CCTV cameras, he was seen striking the dog on the head. The force of the blow caused Scooby to collapse and lose consciousness on the spot.

Hearing the commotion, family members rushed outside, only to find the dog lying unconscious. With the help of neighbours, Scooby was immediately taken to a nearby veterinary hospital. Authorities confirmed that the dog has since recovered and is now out of danger.

Following the incident, a formal complaint has been lodged at the Madanayakana-halli Police Station.

Police have initiated an investigation into the matter, with CCTV footage expected to play a crucial role in establishing the sequence of events and ensuring appropriate action against the accused.

COMPLAINANT DENIES CASE AGAINST SEER

CH NEWS, BENGALURU

The controversy surrounding Panchamasali seer Basavajaya Mrutyunjaya Swamiji has taken a dramatic turn, with the woman who was said to have filed a complaint against him releasing a video denying all allegations and calling the case fabricated.

In the video statement, the woman asserted that all accusations made in her name are false. She claimed she had never filed any complaint against the seer and alleged that unidentified individuals had misused her identity to create and circulate the claims. She further stated that she had submitted a handwritten letter to the State Home Minister clarifying her position.

According to her, she became aware of the controversy only after watching television reports. She firmly denied any form of sexual harassment, maintaining that the Swamiji had never behaved inappropriately with her. She also refuted claims that she had used abusive language against him, describing their association as strictly that of a devotee and spiritual guru.

Addressing a reported incident in Vijayapura, the woman clarified that she had merely invited the seer to speak during a situation and had not caused any disturbance.

She added that it was a relative who had raised his voice, not her. She also dismissed allegations of demanding money, stating that neither she nor her family had sought any financial assistance from the seer.

NICE Road Bribery Busted: Two RTO Inspectors, Middleman Caught Red-Handed

CH NEWS, BENGALURU

In a major anti-corruption crackdown, the Lokayukta police arrested two probationary RTO inspectors and a middleman while allegedly accepting bribes from motorists on the NICE Road.

The arrested officials have been identified as Kiran and Dinesh Kumar, both serving at the Nelamangala RTO Office. A middleman, Ramesh, was also taken into custody for facilitating the illegal transactions.

According to officials, the inspectors were conducting routine vehicle checks when they allegedly began demanding money from motorists who lacked proper documents or were found violating traffic rules. Instead of initiating legal action, the accused reportedly offered to let offenders go in exchange for bribes.

Investigations revealed that the trio accepted payments through both cash and digital platforms, including Google Pay.

To avoid direct handling of money, the inspectors allegedly used Ramesh as an intermediary to collect the bribes. The arrests followed a complaint filed by Prashanth, who informed the Lokayukta about the illegal demands. Acting on the tip-off, the Lokayukta police laid a trap. It is reported that the accused had earlier collected ₹3,000 through cash and digital payment and were attempting to collect an additional ₹300 when they were caught red-handed.

The operation was led by Lokayukta DySP Brijesh Mathew, who supervised the successful execution of the trap and arrests.

Authorities confirmed that all three accused have been taken into custody.

A detailed investigation is now underway to determine whether the officials were involved in similar acts of extortion in the past and to identify any wider network of corruption.

No Harm in MLAs Seeking Minister Posts: Parameshwara

CH NEWS, BENGALURU

Karnataka Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara has said there is nothing inappropriate about senior MLAs openly seeking ministerial berths, asserting that such aspirations are a natural part of democratic politics.

Speaking to the media in Bengaluru, Parameshwara dismissed criticism over MLAs visiting Delhi to lobby for ministerial positions. "This is not gambling. If an MLA has won elections multiple times and has the experience, they are qualified to seek a ministerial berth. There is nothing wrong in asking openly," he said.

He, however, clarified that the final decision rests with the Chief Minister and the party high command. "Be it leadership issues or cabinet restructuring, only the high command will decide. They observe everything and know what is best in any given situation," he added.

On speculation about his own aspirations, including the post of KPCC president, Parameshwara maintained that such matters are entirely in the hands of the party leadership. "Restructuring is being discussed, and the high command will take a decision after consulting various leaders," he said. Addressing internal party developments, he referred to leader Jabbar, who had sought a ticket in Davanagere but was denied. Jabbar has since resigned from the minority unit, and his resignation has been accepted. Parameshwara acknowledged that some Muslim leaders have expressed dissatisfaction but noted that Deputy Chief Minister D K Shivakumar would reorganize the unit.

BDA launches third e-auction of premium plots

CH NEWS, BENGALURU

The Bangalore Development Authority (BDA) has stepped up its land monetisation strategy by announcing a third round of e-auction, riding on the success of its earlier sales that generated a record ₹2,097 crore. The move is aimed at mobilising funds for major infrastructure and urban development projects across the city.

The latest auction will see over 47 premium plots being offered across some of Bengaluru's most sought-after localities, including RMV 2nd Stage, Banashankari 6th Stage, Chandra Layout, Sir M Vishweshwaraiah Layout and Arkavati Layout. These plots vary in size and cater to a wide range of buyers, from individual investors to commercial developers.

Among the offerings, the largest plot spans 4,593 square metres in HBR 1st Stage, while the smallest measures 403 square metres in areas such as Lingadheeranahalli and Herohalli.

The pricing reflects the premium nature of the locations, ranging from ₹63,000 per square metre to ₹1.65 lakh per square metre.

The renewed push follows the remarkable response to BDA's earlier auctions, particularly the first round, which alone fetched ₹2,097 crore through the sale of 52 acres in Konadasapura, off Old Madras Road. Encouraged by this outcome, the authority swiftly moved ahead with subsequent auction rounds.

After record-breaking revenue from earlier sales, BDA rolls out fresh e-auction in prime areas; questions emerge over land classification and sourcing.

With prime locations, diverse plot sizes and competitive pricing, the auction is expected to attract strong interest, even as debates continue over land use norms and procedural clarity.

However, the rapid rollout of auctions has sparked concerns over the classification and sourcing of certain plots. The current e-auction is being conducted under the BDA's Disposal of Corner Sites and Commercial Sites Rules, 1984. As per the official schedule, live bidding is set to commence on May 6, 2026, with the deadline for registration fixed for May 5.

Out-of-Control Nandini Vehicle Overtakes Near Yelahanka, Milk Spills on Road

CH NEWS, BENGALURU

An out-of-control Nandini dairy transport vehicle overturned near Yelahanka in the early hours of Monday, leading to milk and curd packets being scattered across the road and causing temporary disruption in the area.

The incident occurred between 3 am and 4 am when the vehicle, loaded with dairy products, was en route from Yelahanka towards Chikkaballapur. According to initial reports, the driver lost control of the vehicle, resulting in it overturning on the roadside.

Following the accident, several packets of milk and curd were seen strewn across the road, leading to considerable wastage. The spill also created a brief obstruction for early morning commuters, though the situation was later brought under control.

Authorities were alerted soon after the mishap, and necessary steps were taken to clear the road and restore normal traffic movement. No major injuries were reported in the incident.

Officials from Karnataka Milk Federation (KMF), which markets dairy products under the Nandini brand, confirmed the details and clarified the liability in such cases. They stated that these transport vehicles operate under a tender-based system.

As per existing norms, financial losses resulting from accidents are not borne directly by KMF. Instead, the responsibility lies with the contractors or vehicle owners who have secured the transport tender, and they are required to cover the damages arising from such incidents.

CCB steps up manhunt for 29 absconders in Ramya comment case

CH NEWS, BENGALURU

The Central Crime Branch (CCB) police have intensified their efforts to trace 29 absconding accused in the case involving obscene and abusive comments directed at actress Ramya on social media.

The case dates back to July 2025, when Ramya had posted online seeking justice for Renukaswamy.

Following her post, several social media users allegedly posted vulgar and abusive remarks targeting the actress. Taking serious note of the incident, she filed a complaint against 43 social media accounts.

During the course of the investigation, the CCB constituted six special teams and carried out extensive searches across multiple locations, including Bengaluru, Mysuru, Haveri and Chikkamagaluru.

As part of the crackdown, police arrested 14 accused and subsequently filed a chargesheet against them.

However, 29 individuals remained untraceable at the time of filing the chargesheet. Police then submitted an absconding chargesheet against the remaining accused, indicating that efforts to locate them were ongoing.

With the case now entering the trial stage, the Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate (ACJM) Court has directed the police to trace and produce the absconding accused before the court. Acting on these directions, the CCB has renewed its search operations, focusing on tracking down the remaining suspects.

Officials said dedicated teams are continuing field visits, technical surveillance and coordination with local police units to identify and apprehend those still on the run.

They reiterated that all accused involved in the case will be brought to justice as per law.

MANGALURU

The district administration will celebrate the 135th birth anniversary of Bharat Ratna Dr. B. R. Ambedkar, the architect of the Indian Constitution, on April 14 at 10.30 am at Kudmul Ranga Rao Town Hall in the city. Journalists have been invited to attend the programme.

Meanwhile, Karnataka Legislative Assembly Speaker U. T. Khader participated in the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association (CPA) India Zone-GII conference held in Panaji, Goa, where he spoke on leadership, governance, and the role of young legislators.

He said that youth leadership should not be defined only by age but by mindset and ideas. According to him, those with outdated thinking cannot be considered truly young, while those with innovative and open thinking represent real youth in politics.

Khader said that a significant number of MLAs in India are under 45, but the real concern is how many of them actively practice innovation, responsibility, and creative thinking in governance.

He highlighted the importance of training for first-time legislators and appreciated programmes like the MLA Bootcamp held in Bengaluru, which help improve understanding of lawmaking, ethics, and administration.

He also stressed the need for continuous learning in governance, similar to corporate training systems. He suggested that legislators should be trained in artificial intelligence, cybersecurity, data governance, and economic policy. Khader added that future governance should shift from reactive to predictive systems, using data and technology for better decision-making in areas like agriculture, traffic, and healthcare. He said India should focus on building human capital through AI literacy, financial awareness, and skill development. He also called for a start-up mindset in governance to improve efficiency and innovation. The conference was attended by Speakers and representatives from several states, along with national leaders including Lok Sabha Speaker Om Birla and Goa Chief Minister Pramod Sawant.

Farmers and activists oppose wildlife sterilisation plan, calling it unscientific; demand data, better corridors, and humane solutions

Farmers protest wildlife sterilisation plan sparks anger

CHAMARAJANAGAR

Farmers and environmentalists have strongly opposed a government plan to sterilise wild animals to reduce human wildlife conflict. In Chamarajanagar district, members of the Karnataka State Sugarcane Growers Association blocked the Bangalore Dindigul National Highway near Mariala flyover in protest. They called the idea unscientific and demanded that the project be withdrawn immediately. Leader Halikerehundi Bhagyaraj said sterilising wildlife is inhuman and harmful to biodiversity. He added that officials should first present scientific data before taking such steps. Environmental activist Joseph Hoover also criticised the proposal, saying there is no proof that elephant numbers have gone beyond control. He suggested strengthening elephant corridors and using better scientific methods instead of sterilisation. Experts warned that similar experiments elsewhere have sometimes increased aggressive animal behaviour. Farmers warned of continued protests if the plan is not dropped. They said they will intensify agitation to protect their agricultural fields and safety. Officials from the Forest Department maintained that the proposal aims to reduce increasing incidents of conflict between humans and wild animals near farmlands and villages. They said the idea is still under discussion and no final decision has been taken, while consultations with experts and local communities will continue in the coming.

In a statement issued on Monday, KKCCI president Sharanabasappa M. Pappa and secretary Shivaraj V. Inginshetty said the confirmation of the route has removed earlier confusion about the train's alignment. They described the decision as a historic step for the Kalyana Karnataka region. The chamber said it had been continuously working with the Ministry of Railways to improve rail connectivity between Kalaburagi and Bengaluru. Earlier, a delegation met Railway Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw in December 2025 and submitted a detailed representation requesting better rail infrastructure for the region. KKCCI said better connectivity will help reduce travel time, improve mobility, and create new economic opportunities for local industries and entrepreneurs.

The chamber expressed gratitude to Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Railway Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw, Minister of State for Railways V. Repeated bomb threats to Delhi Assembly raise concerns

The Delhi Assembly received another bomb threat through email on Monday, raising serious security concerns and prompting Speaker Vijender Gupta to seek urgent action from the Delhi Police.

According to officials, the threatening email was received at 11.12 a.m. on the Assembly's official email ID. It contained alarming claims about explosives being used inside the Assembly premises. This is not the first such incident in recent weeks. Earlier, on March 25, a similar email claimed that 16 RDX based improvised explosive devices had been planted inside the

Delhi Police bust interstate cyber fraud racket, arrest accused

NEW DELHI

Delhi Police Crime Branch has busted an interstate cyber fraud network and arrested a key accused from Kerala involved in handling cheated money. The accused, identified as Jamsheed K., 33, from Malappuram district, was allegedly part of a well organised gang running fake investment schemes. Police said he played a major role in managing and transferring funds collected from victims.

The case came to light after a complaint by Sandeep Kumar, who was contacted through Facebook and added to a WhatsApp group promoting a trading platform. He was asked to download an app named INDIAN NIVESH and invest money with promises of high returns.

Trusting the claims, the victim transferred Rs 45.9 lakh into several bank accounts.

Later, the app showed a fake profit of around Rs 7 crore. When he tried to withdraw the amount, his request failed. The fraudsters then asked him to deposit more money, and when he refused, they blocked his account and stopped all communication.

During investigation, police traced Rs 10 lakh to a bank account linked to a firm in Kerala. The account showed multiple suspicious transactions and was connected to more than 21 cyber fraud complaints across states.

A special police team tracked the accused to Kerala and arrested him on April 5 with local support. Police said he earlier worked abroad and later rented his bank accounts to fraudsters after his business failed.

An FIR has been registered and further investigation is underway to identify other members of the network.

CITIZENS UNITE TO PROTECT MUMBAI GREEN SPACES

MUMBAI

Nearly 300 citizens gathered at Versova Beach to protest and demand protection of Mumbai's mangroves, forests, and open spaces from unchecked development activities.

The peaceful protest, called "Green Mumbai Sunday," was organised by Save Mumbai Mangroves on April 12. It brought together people from various groups like Save Aarey and Save SGNP, along with several citizen led initiatives working to protect the city's environment.

Participants marched from the beach entrance to the Seven Bungalows rocks, raising slogans against environmental damage. The rally ended with speeches, songs, and poetry focused on conservation. A human chain was also formed along the shoreline to show unity and commitment to saving green spaces.

Members of the Koli fishing community joined the protest and spoke about the importance of mangroves. They said these ecosystems support marine life, provide income for fishermen, and even have medicinal value. They warned that destruction of mangroves would harm both nature and local livelihoods.

Several speakers claimed that local communities are often not properly consulted before major coastal or infrastructure projects are approved. They called for more transparency and public participation in decision making.

The protest comes amid concerns over the proposed Versova Bhayandar Coastal Road project, which activists say could affect over 45,000 mangroves. The project had received approval from the Bombay High Court in December 2025.

Activists said they are preparing to challenge the project legally on new grounds. They stressed that development should be balanced with environmental protection.

Organisers said the event highlights the importance of public involvement and warned that Mumbai's ecological future depends on responsible planning and continuous citizen action.

Vijay transforms campaign strategy in Tamil Nadu elections

CHENNAI

A new style of election campaigning has emerged in Tamil Nadu, with actor turned politician Vijay appearing as a 3D hologram to reach voters across constituencies.

The technology was first used in Kumbakonam on April 12, where a life sized digital projection of Vijay appeared alongside party candidate Vinoh Ravi. The hologram delivered a synchronised speech from a campaign vehicle, creating the impression that the IWWear was present in person and attracting large crowds. Party leaders said the idea was introduced to manage the challenge of campaigning in more than 200 constituencies. They explained that it is not possible for Vijay to visit every location physically, so the hologram helps share his message widely.

The project was developed by Praveen K, a 20 year old student, who created a short AI based video that was turned into a hologram within three days. He said the technology has received strong interest from other political parties as well. According to estimates, each hologram campaign may cost between Rs 2 lakh and Rs 3 lakh. Analysts believe this modern approach is aimed at attracting young voters and setting the party apart from traditional campaign methods used by others. Meanwhile, Vijay continues limited physical campaigning and recently attended events in Kanyakumari. With elections scheduled on April 23 across all constituencies, parties are trying new strategies to connect with voters and increase their outreach effectively across the state.

Tejashwi attacks Bihar government over governance, remote control rule

PATNA

RJD leader Tejashwi Yadav on Monday criticised the Bihar government, alleging poor governance and claiming the state is being controlled from outside. Yadav targeted the BJP JD(U) alliance, accusing it of failing to address key development issues in the state. He claimed that people linked to the BJP were influencing governance, including within the JD(U), affecting law and order. He said Bihar continues to face serious challenges such as poverty, low per capita income, weak education and healthcare systems, and lack of industrial growth despite years of rule by the current alliance.

Yadav also criticised the government's economic performance, alleging that resources have been exhausted without meaningful progress. He said public concerns like unemployment, inflation, migration, and problems faced by farmers are being ignored.

The RJD leader further alleged administrative slowdown, claiming that Cabinet meetings have not been held for months and decision making has been delayed. He also raised concerns about rising crime and corruption, and said many election promises remain unfulfilled.

Referring to political developments, Yadav hinted at internal changes within the ruling alliance while commenting on recent poster updates featuring Chief Minister Nitish Kumar.

LPG SUPPLY

Delhi assures steady LPG supply, urges calm

NEW DELHI

Delhi Chief Minister Rekha Gupta on Monday assured residents that LPG supply in the city remains stable and sufficient, asking people not to panic or believe rumours circulating on social media. She said there is no shortage of cooking gas or any other fuel in the capital.

Sharing details, the Chief Minister said that on Sunday, 1,11,766 domestic LPG bookings were recorded, while oil companies delivered 1,30,094 cylinders. This shows that supplies are more than demand and pending orders are being cleared quickly. She added that the average delivery time has improved to 3.87 days from 4.24 days earlier.

On the commercial side, Delhi has a daily quota of 6,480 LPG cylinders. However, the average daily use over the past week was only 4,268 cylinders, including smaller 5 kg cylinders. This clearly shows that supply is higher than consumption.upta appealed to commercial users not to stockpile cylinders unnecessarily. She said the distribution system across the city is working smoothly and enough stock is available for all users. To help consumers, a control room has been set up by the Food and Civil Supplies Department. People facing issues can contact helpline numbers between 9 a.m. and 7 p.m. any day.

The Chief Minister also encouraged people to use Piped Natural Gas wherever available, as it offers a steady and safe fuel supply. Hospitals, schools, and other large users have been advised to switch to PNG soon.

She added that people can also consider electric or induction cooking as a long term option. The government is monitoring the situation daily to ensure uninterrupted LPG supply across Delhi without disruption.

Hormuz Blockade
Uncertainty
Raises Global Oil
Supply Concerns

NEW DELHI

Rising tensions over a possible Strait of Hormuz blockade have created uncertainty for global oil trade and regional stability.

Foreign affairs expert Robinder Sachdev said there is still no clear picture of how the proposed US-led blockade of the Strait of Hormuz will be implemented. He explained that ships loading oil from Iran, especially from Kharg Island, could face strict sanctions similar to those imposed in 2018. These may include freezing of financial assets, blocking of dollar transactions, and visa restrictions for associated individuals. Sachdev noted that the United States aims to stop Iran from earning revenue through oil exports, which currently stand at about 1.8 million barrels per day. However, enforcing such sanctions could be complex, especially if ships use alternative payment methods like cryptocurrencies or yuan.

He added that vessels passing through the Persian Gulf and paying tolls to Iran may also face penalties. Verifying such payments could lead to further tensions, including possible boarding of ships by US forces, which may trigger diplomatic disputes.

The expert also pointed out that recent talks involving Iran failed due to differences over nuclear issues, particularly uranium enrichment. While the US accused Iran of pursuing nuclear weapons, Iran reportedly insisted on maintaining enrichment for peaceful purposes. Sachdev said the Strait of Hormuz is a key strategic tool for Iran, and any blockade could have serious consequences. It may affect India's energy imports and raise costs due to disrupted supply chains. Possible Chinese support to Iran could worsen tensions, while US plans to block Iranian ports raise global oil concerns.

In a post on social media, Gandhi described Sarma as the "most corrupt" Chief Minister in the country and alleged misuse of state power to target political opponents. He stressed that the allegations raised by the Congress must be properly investigated, highlighting the importance of transparency, accountability, and rule of law in a democracy. Gandhi also made it clear that the Congress party would stand firmly with Khera and would not be intimidated.

The remarks came after Assam Police moved the Supreme Court challenging the Telangana High Court's order granting Khera transit anticipatory bail for one week starting April 10. As per the court's direction, Khera must approach a competent court in Assam for further relief.

The controversy began after Khera alleged that Riniki Bhuyan Sharma possessed multiple passports and that the family had business interests worth Rs 52,000 crore in the United States. However, the Chief Minister denied all allegations, calling them baseless.

Following the claims, Sharma filed an FIR against Khera, leading to police searches at his residence. The issue has intensified political tensions in Assam, with leaders from both sides exchanging sharp remarks.

Assam Congress president Gaurav Gogoi also criticised Sarma, claiming the Chief Minister was in "panic mode" due to the widespread attention the allegations received. He said strong reactions from the Chief Minister reflected desperation and insisted that facts cannot be changed through pressure or authority.

The matter remains under legal and political scrutiny, with further developments expected.

Shubhanshu Shukla Marks
Cosmonautics Day With Inspiring Message

NEW DELHI

Indian astronaut Group Captain Shubhanshu Shukla extended greetings on the 65th anniversary of human spaceflight and encouraged people to explore space. In a video shared by the Russian Embassy in India, Shukla recalled the historic journey of Yuri Gagarin, who became the first human to travel to space on April 12, 1961.

He said this landmark event continues to inspire generations and is celebrated every year as International Cosmonautics Day.

Shukla highlighted the courage shown by Gagarin, noting that at the time of the mission, very little was known about how the human body would react in space. Despite the risks, Gagarin successfully completed the mission, making it a symbol of hope and progress for humanity. Encouraging young people and space enthusiasts, Shukla urged everyone to remain excited about space exploration and to carry forward the spirit of discovery. He said exploring space brings purpose and inspiration, and called on people to look towards the future with confidence and determination.

Shukla, who trained at Russia's Star City between 2020 and 2021, has been an important figure in India's growing space journey. Earlier this year, he was awarded the Ashok Chakra, India's highest peacetime gallantry award, by President Droupadi Murmu during Republic Day celebrations. He made history by becoming the first Indian to visit the International Space Station, marking a major milestone for the country's space programme.

Asia flight chaos leaves thousands stranded across airports

New Delhi

Aviation across Asia faced severe disruption as over 1,400 flights were delayed and 67 cancelled, leaving thousands of passengers stranded. Major hubs including Delhi, Tokyo, Dubai, Bangkok, Singapore, Jakarta, Mumbai, and Bengaluru reported heavy operational strain. Airports experienced long queues, issued connections, and overcrowded terminals as delays cascaded across regional and international networks. Jakarta and Bangkok recorded the highest disruption levels, while Tokyo and Delhi also saw significant impact. Airlines such as IndiGo, Air India, Emirates, and Singapore Airlines were among those affected.

Lula faces tightest first-round contest since 2002: Datafolha poll

Brazil

Brazilian President Luiz Inácio Lula da Silva is facing his most competitive first-round election scenario since his 2002 victory, according to a new Datafolha survey. The poll indicates that Lula's lead in early voting intentions has narrowed significantly, placing him in a tightly contested race against major opponents in the 2026 presidential election. The data reflects a broader trend of increasing polarization in Brazil's political landscape, with opposition candidates closing gaps as voter concerns over the economy and governance rise. While Lula remains a frontrunner in several scenarios, the shrinking margins suggest a far more

Lufthansa strike cancels hundreds of flights across Germany

New Delhi

Lufthansa has cancelled hundreds of flights after pilots and cabin crew launched strikes over pay, pensions, and working conditions. The industrial action caused major disruption across Germany, with Frankfurt Airport reporting around 580 cancellations and Munich Airport about 400. The union said participation was extremely high, leading to widespread grounding of Lufthansa Airlines and its subsidiary CityLine. While some flights operated through partner carriers like Austrian Airlines and Eurowings, most services were severely affected. The strike coincided.

Russia allegedly planned fake Orban assassination plot

Alleged Russian intelligence plans reportedly aimed to influence Hungary's elections through a staged political assassination scenario.

HUNGARY

A reported intelligence document has alleged that Russia's foreign intelligence service, the SVR, drafted a plan to stage a fake assassination attempt on then-Hungarian Prime Minister Viktor Orban ahead of the country's recent parliamentary elections, in an effort to influence voter sentiment. The alleged operation, described in a report cited by The Washington Post, was internally code-named "The Gamechanger" and was intended to shift Hungary's election discourse away from economic issues toward emotional themes such as national security and political stability. The document reportedly suggested that a staged attack could consolidate support for Orban's ruling party by reshaping public perception in the final phase of campaigning. According to the report, the SVR assessment also analyzed Hungary's political landscape, claiming significant voter dissatisfaction even in traditional ruling-party strongholds. It also characterized opposition leader Péter Magyar as aligned with Western interests, while outlining broader influence operations involving disinformation campaigns and AI-generated content. The Kremlin has denied the allegations, with spokesperson Dmitry Peskov dismissing the claims as disinformation. Russian officials and the SVR have not publicly confirmed any such plan.

The report further comes amid broader concerns within the European Union about intelligence-sharing and alleged political influence operations. Some EU officials have reportedly raised concerns over Hungary's ties with Moscow, leading to increased caution in intelligence cooperation.

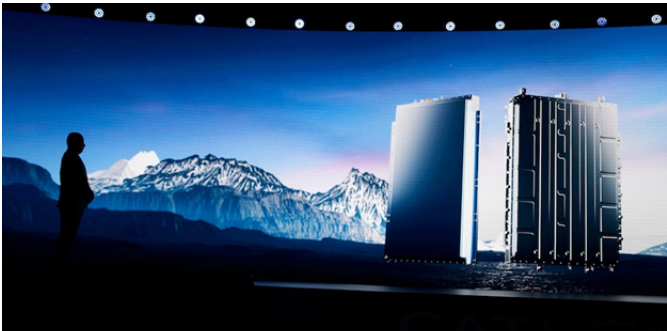

The election ultimately resulted in a victory for the opposition, with Magyar's party securing a parliamentary majority, marking a significant political shift in Hungary. The allegations, however, have added to ongoing debates over foreign interference, hybrid warfare, and the role of information operations in modern democratic elections.

The Iran conflict-driven global energy crisis is accelerating renewable adoption, strengthening China's dominance in clean technology markets worldwide.

Iran conflict boosts China's clean tech advantage globally

HONG KONG

The ongoing Iran conflict and resulting global energy disruptions are accelerating a structural shift in the world energy landscape, strengthening China's position in clean technology manufacturing and exports. With instability around the Strait of Hormuz disrupting oil flows, energy-importing nations across Asia and beyond are facing rising fuel costs and supply uncertainty. This has increased urgency for alternative energy solutions, particularly renewable power and electric mobility. At the center of this shift is China, which already dominates global production of electric vehicles, batteries, and solar equipment. Companies such as BYD and CATL are expected to benefit from rising global demand as countries diversify away from fossil fuels. China produces a majority share of global EVs and battery cells and continues to expand exports to Southeast Asia, Europe, and other energy-import-dependent regions. Analysts note that rising oil prices often make electric vehicles and solar systems more economically attractive, further boosting demand for Chinese clean tech products. The United States, which has emphasized fossil fuel production and energy exports, is seen as pursuing a different energy strategy, creating what analysts describe as a "diverging energy path" between global powers. Countries such as Pakistan, Indonesia, and several European economies are increasingly investing in renewable infrastructure, including solar and battery storage systems, to reduce exposure to volatile fuel markets. Early indicators suggest rising EV adoption and stronger demand for clean energy imports in these regions.

Experts say the current energy shock may accelerate long-term structural change rather than temporary demand spikes, as governments and industries reassess energy security strategies.

Overall, the crisis highlights how geopolitical instability is reshaping global energy economics, potentially reinforcing China's leadership in clean technology while pushing more countries toward electrification and renewable energy adoption.

US HINDI BOOK EVENT CANCELLED AMID IDEOLOGY ROW

MARYLAND

A planned Hindi-language library event in Maryland, US, was cancelled after controversy over alleged ideological affiliations and protests from multiple community groups. The event, titled "Many Languages, One Library: Celebrating Hindi," was organized to mark the addition of more than 160 Hindi-language books to a public library collection in Montgomery County. It was partly supported by the Balvihar Hindi School, which is linked to the Vishwa Hindu Parishad of America. However, a coalition of civil rights and advocacy groups objected to the involvement of the organization, alleging that it promotes "Hindutva ideology" and could introduce political or exclusionary narratives into public institutions. The groups argued that cultural programming in public libraries should remain neutral and inclusive. Following the backlash, Montgomery County Public Libraries (MPCL) announced the cancellation of the event, stating that it would reconsider how to celebrate the Hindi-speaking community in a more inclusive and community-focused manner.

The decision sparked strong reactions from supporters of the VHPA, who accused opposing groups of spreading misinformation and expressed concern over what they described as bias against Hindu cultural organizations. They maintained that the initiative was purely aimed at promoting language and literature, not political ideology. Community leaders and local political candidates also weighed in, with some emphasizing the importance of distinguishing between cultural celebration and ideological promotion, while others stressed the need to ensure public institutions remain free from perceived political influence.

The controversy highlights ongoing debates in the United States around cultural representation, ideological concerns.

Trump considered naming Gulf 'Gulf of Trump' once

WASHINGTON

US President Donald Trump revealed that he once seriously considered renaming the Gulf of Mexico as the "Gulf of Trump," before deciding against the idea during internal discussions on geographic renaming initiatives.

Trump said the suggestion emerged while he was advancing a broader policy push to rename the body of water. He explained that the idea was part of a series of informal proposals linked to his effort to reshape federal geographic naming conventions under a national branding framework.

Trump noted that although the "Gulf of Trump" name was briefly discussed, he ultimately concluded it would not be a practical or appropriate choice. Instead, he moved forward with an alternative renaming, officially designating the area as the "Gulf of America" through an executive order issued earlier in his second term.

The order instructed federal agencies to update official documents, maps, and communications to reflect the new designation. It also emphasized the geographical significance of the Gulf, which borders several US states including Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, and Florida.

The renaming has sparked

Trump says he once considered renaming the Gulf of Mexico "Gulf of Trump" but dropped the idea after concluding it would not work well.

considerable political and diplomatic attention. Mexican officials have opposed the change, arguing that the term "Gulf of Mexico" has been in use for centuries and remains globally recognized in international geography and maritime references. Trump's comments highlight how naming decisions can carry symbolic political weight beyond administrative changes. Such actions often become part of broader debates about national identity, historical interpretation, and diplomatic sensitivity. While the "Gulf of Trump" proposal was ultimately abandoned, the revelation adds another layer to ongoing discussions surrounding the administration's approach to symbolic rebranding and its impact on international perceptions.

Russia offers Iran uranium transfer in peace plan

RUSSIA

Russia has said it is ready to take custody of Iran's enriched uranium as part of a potential peace framework linked to stalled negotiations with the United States, according to the Kremlin.

The proposal, originally put forward by Russian President Vladimir Putin, is aimed at supporting diplomatic efforts to resolve long-running tensions over Iran's nuclear program. Kremlin spokesperson Dmitry Peskov confirmed that the offer remains valid and has been communicated to both US officials and regional stakeholders, although it has not yet been acted upon.

The development comes after recent diplomatic efforts involving the United States and Iran failed to produce a breakthrough. Talks held over the weekend reportedly ended without agreement, further delaying progress on a broader settlement to ease escalating tensions in the region.

Russia's plan involves transferring Iran's enriched uranium to Russian custody as a confidence-building measure, potentially reducing concerns over nuclear escalation while negotiations continue. Moscow has positioned itself as a mediator willing to support long-term stability and prevent further deterioration of the conflict.

The announcement follows renewed instability in the Middle East, where ongoing hostilities have already disrupted energy markets and international shipping routes. The situation has heightened global concern over supply chain security and regional economic stability.

Russia's diplomatic engagement underscores its continued role as a key external actor in Middle East negotiations, particularly in efforts involving Iran and the United States. Officials in Moscow reiterated their support for dialogue and emphasized that a negotiated settlement remains the preferred outcome.

Overall, the proposal highlights ongoing international attempts to manage nuclear tensions through indirect mechanisms while broader peace talks remain stalled.

CROSS BORDER MEDIA

India, Bangladesh expand media exchange cooperation

DHAKA

India and Bangladesh have agreed to strengthen cooperation by enhancing exchange visits of media delegations, aiming to improve mutual understanding and promote closer ties between the two neighbouring countries. The agreement was reached during discussions between officials from both sides, focusing on expanding people-to-people contact and fostering better communication between media professionals. The initiative is intended to create opportunities for journalists to observe each other's media ecosystems, reporting practices, and institutional frameworks more closely. Under the arrangement, media delegations from India and Bangladesh will undertake reciprocal visits, allowing journalists to engage with news organizations, government institutions, and cultural centres in both countries. The exchanges are expected to help build trust, reduce misinformation, and encourage more balanced coverage of bilateral issues.

Officials noted that media cooperation plays an important role in strengthening diplomatic relations, particularly in a region where shared history, culture, and economic ties are significant. The initiative is also seen as part of broader efforts to deepen connectivity and collaboration across multiple sectors, including trade, education, and cultural exchange. The agreement reflects ongoing engagement between the two countries to maintain stable and constructive relations. Both sides emphasized the importance of open communication channels and responsible journalism in shaping public perception and regional harmony. Overall, the media exchange initiative is expected to contribute to greater understanding between India and Bangladesh, while supporting long-term diplomatic and cultural cooperation through sustained interaction between journalists and media institutions in both nations.

Government eases CAFE 2027 norms for automakers relief

New Delhi

The government has proposed softer CAFE 2027–2032 fuel efficiency norms, easing compliance pressure on automakers. The revised draft by the Ministry of Power and Bureau of Energy Efficiency replaces a rigid target system with a phased tightening approach. It reduces earlier advantages for heavier vehicles while introducing a flatter compliance curve through 2032. Super credits for electric and hybrid vehicles allow them to count as multiple units for emission compliance. Credit trading between manufacturers has also been permitted to provide additional flexibility. Small manufacturers producing fewer than 1,000 units annually are exempt from compliance obligations. Penalties remain significant for large automakers, making EV adoption and hybrid credits financially important mechanism.

India-UK build propulsion testing facility unmanned aviation

New Delhi

India and the United Kingdom have partnered to develop a propulsion testing facility for unmanned aviation under a collaboration between the Technology Development Board (TDB) and Gurugram-based Casey Aviation Private Limited, with UK-based ARC Aerosystems Ltd. The project focuses on hybrid propulsion and Jump Take-Off systems for unmanned aerial platforms, enabling short and near-vertical take-off capabilities. It will also establish North India's first dedicated test bench facility for rotorcraft propulsion validation, supporting start-ups and aerospace developers in advanced air mobility. The initiative aims to improve disaster response, logistics, medical evacuation and surveillance operations in remote regions while strengthening India's unmanned aviation ecosystem through international research cooperation and sustainable aviation innovation development efficiency.

Pi data centers to launch 3MW Mumbai facility in August

New Delhi

Pi Data Centers will launch a 3MW data centre in central Mumbai in August 2026, marking Phase I of its expansion into India's growing digital infrastructure market. Pi Data Centers is also planning a larger 23MW expansion for hyperscale, colocation, and cloud services, with advisory support from JLL. The new facility complements its existing 60MW capacity in Amaravati and an upcoming 3MW site in Hyderabad. The project targets rising demand from AI workloads, cloud adoption, and data localisation. India's data centre sector is expanding rapidly, driven by strong enterprise and hyperscaler demand. The Mumbai launch strengthens low-latency access, scalability, and infrastructure resilience across key markets in the coming years ahead.

Nifty, Sensex recover partially; Defence stocks outperform

The Nifty 50 and Sensex recovered from intraday lows as defence stocks rallied amid global geopolitical tensions.

MUMBAI

The Nifty 50 and Sensex recovered from deeper intraday losses on Monday, as last-hour buying helped trim declines, though overall sentiment remained cautious amid global geopolitical tensions.

Both benchmark indices ended lower, with the Nifty closing down nearly 208 points and the Sensex falling over 700 points. However, sharp recovery from day's lows indicated selective buying interest, particularly in defence-related stocks, which outperformed broader markets.

Defence stocks attracted strong investor attention, supported by expectations of increased government spending and heightened geopolitical uncertainty in West Asia. This sectoral strength helped cushion overall market weakness during the final trading hours.

Broader markets also mirrored the recovery trend, although mid-cap and small-cap indices still ended in negative territory. Selling pressure was visible across multiple sectors, including auto, oil and gas, FMCG, and IT, reflecting widespread risk aversion among investors.

Within the benchmark indices, select banking and financial stocks provided support, while auto and consumption-related shares remained among the top laggards. Heavyweights such as ICICI Bank and Axis Bank helped limit deeper losses.

Analysts noted that key technical levels are likely to guide near-term market direction, with resistance expected around higher psychological levels and support zones emerging after recent consolidation.

Overall, while late-session buying offered temporary relief, market sentiment remained fragile, influenced by global uncertainty and fluctuating risk appetite. Investors are expected to remain cautious in the near term, closely tracking geopolitical developments and crude oil price movements.

Reliance Jio and Bank of Baroda introduce bob World Lite, enabling secure digital banking access for feature phone users across India.

Jio, Bank of Baroda launch 'bob World Lite' service

MUMBAI

Reliance Jio has partnered with Bank of Baroda to launch 'bob World Lite', a mobile banking solution designed specifically for feature phone users, marking a significant step toward digital inclusion in India. The initiative aims to bring essential banking services to millions who do not use smartphones, particularly in semi-urban and rural regions.

The 'bob World Lite' app has been introduced on the JioPhone Prima 4G device, making it one of the first comprehensive banking applications tailored for feature phones. Unlike traditional mobile banking apps that require smartphones, this platform is built with a lightweight design, low bandwidth usage, and keypad-based navigation, ensuring ease of use for a wider population.

Through this application, users can access key banking services such as UPI payments, money transfers, bill payments, and mobile recharges. The app also supports simple onboarding, allowing both existing Bank of Baroda customers and new users from other banks to join conveniently.

The collaboration leverages Jio's vast digital reach and Bank of Baroda's strong banking network to expand access to financial services. With millions of feature phone users still present across India, this initiative aligns with broader national efforts to enhance financial inclusion and promote digital payments adoption.

By integrating banking services directly into affordable devices, the partnership addresses a critical gap in accessibility. It demonstrates how technology and finance can work together to bridge the digital divide, enabling more people to participate in the formal financial ecosystem and benefit from secure, convenient banking solutions.

Mineral auctions expanded in India: G Kishan Reddy

NEW DELHI

India has significantly expanded its push to secure strategic resources by auctioning 46 critical mineral blocks and launching the seventh round of auctions with 19 additional blocks, according to statements from Union Minister G Kishan Reddy. The initiative is aimed at strengthening domestic supply chains for essential minerals used in clean energy, defence, and advanced manufacturing.

The move comes as part of India's broader strategy to reduce import dependence on critical minerals such as lithium, cobalt, nickel, and rare earth elements, which are vital for batteries, electric vehicles, and high-tech industries. By accelerating exploration and commercial allocation of mineral-rich blocks, the government seeks to boost self-reliance and attract private investment into the mining sector.

Officials highlighted that the ongoing auction process reflects a structured approach to unlocking India's geological potential. The inclusion of new blocks in the seventh round signals continued momentum in policy reforms designed to streamline approvals, improve transparency, and encourage participation from both domestic and global players.

The critical mineral push also aligns with India's energy transition goals, particularly the expansion of renewable energy capacity and electric mobility. Securing stable raw material supplies is considered essential for sustaining long-term industrial growth and technological advancement.

Industry observers note that the auction strategy could help position India as a more competitive player in the global minerals market, while also strengthening supply chain resilience amid geopolitical uncertainties.

Overall, the initiative reflects a strategic effort to integrate resource security with economic development, ensuring that India is better prepared for the demands of a rapidly evolving global energy and technology landscape.

KSE-100 index plunges after Iran port blockade shock

NEW DELHI

Pakistan's KSE-100 Index fell sharply after geopolitical tensions escalated following reports of a blockade on Iranian ports, triggering panic selling across markets.

The index dropped more than 5,000 points in intraday trade, sliding from its previous close near 167,000 levels to an early low of about 161,600 before partially recovering later in the session. Despite brief rebounds, volatility remained elevated as investors reacted to fast-changing developments in West Asia.

The sell-off followed heightened uncertainty after escalating conflict dynamics involving the Strait of Hormuz, a critical global oil shipping route. Concerns over potential disruption to energy flows intensified risk aversion in regional equities, including Pakistan's market.

Broader sentiment was also affected by fears that prolonged geopolitical instability could impact trade, inflation, and foreign investment inflows. Banking, energy, and industrial stocks witnessed the steepest declines, reflecting widespread pressure across key sectors.

Pakistan's KSE-100 index plunged over 5,000 points amid geopolitical tensions after reported Iranian port blockade, triggering sharp volatility and broad-based selling across markets.

Earlier in the month, the KSE-100 had seen a strong rally driven by optimism over a temporary ceasefire, marking one of its biggest single-day gains in history. However, the latest reversal underscores the market's sensitivity to geopolitical headlines.

Analysts noted that continued uncertainty around global oil supply routes and diplomatic tensions is likely to keep volatility high in the near term. Investors are expected to remain cautious until clearer signals emerge regarding stability in the region and the status of key maritime routes.

Sagar Adani meets Qatar Central Bank Governor

DOHA

Sagar Adani of Adani Green Energy recently met Sheikh Bandar bin Mohammed bin Saud Al-Thani in Doha, reflecting a growing dialogue between major energy players and global financial institutions. Their conversation focused on evolving trends in global finance and investment, particularly at a time when markets are adjusting to shifts in sustainability priorities, geopolitical dynamics, and capital flows.

The meeting signals a broader alignment between infrastructure-driven companies and sovereign financial bodies. As the head of the Qatar Central Bank and a key figure connected to the Qatar Investment Authority, Sheikh Bandar represents significant financial influence, especially in long-term global investments. Engaging with such institutions allows companies like Adani Green to explore funding avenues, strategic partnerships, and expansion opportunities beyond domestic markets.

For Adani Green, which operates at the forefront of renewable energy development, discussions around global investment trends are especially relevant. The energy sector is undergoing a transformation, with increasing emphasis on clean energy financing, cross-border collaboration, and large-scale infrastructure deployment. Conversations like these often lay the groundwork for future cooperation, even if no immediate agreements are announced.

More broadly, the interaction underscores strengthening economic engagement between India and Qatar. It reflects how business leaders and financial policymakers are working together to navigate a rapidly changing economic landscape, where sustainability, capital access, and international partnerships play an increasingly central role.

EV STOCKS SURGE

EV stocks rally on Delhi petrol vehicle phase-out plan

NEW DELHI

Shares of electric vehicle companies rallied after the Delhi government released its draft Electric Vehicle Policy 2026–2030, which outlines an aggressive roadmap to phase out petrol and CNG-powered vehicles in key segments and accelerate the adoption of clean mobility solutions.

The policy proposes a gradual restriction on new fossil fuel vehicle registrations, including a plan to stop new petrol two-wheeler registrations from April 2028 and CNG three-wheelers from January 2027. It is designed to reduce air pollution in the capital by pushing a faster transition toward electric mobility, especially in high-usage urban transport segments.

Market participants reacted positively to the announcement, with strong buying interest seen across EV-related stocks. Ather Energy surged over 5 percent during intraday trade, reflecting optimism about future demand for electric scooters. JBM Auto gained more than 2.5 percent, supported by expectations of increased electric bus and fleet orders. Meanwhile, Olectra Greentech also advanced nearly 3 percent as investors priced in stronger long-term growth prospects.

The draft policy also includes fiscal incentives such as a full waiver of road tax for electric vehicles and a 50 percent concession for hybrid vehicles priced up to ₹30 lakh. Instead of direct subsidies, the focus is on tax benefits and infrastructure expansion to encourage adoption.

The policy has been opened for public consultation until May 10, allowing stakeholders to provide feedback before finalization. Authorities have emphasized that the initiative aims to create a cleaner, more sustainable transport ecosystem while addressing rising urban pollution levels.

Overall, the announcement strengthened investor sentiment in the EV sector, highlighting expectations of accelerated policy-driven growth in India's electric mobility market.

MUMBAI INDIANS Urged to Reduce Dependence on Bumrah

MUMBAI

Former South Africa captain Faf du Plessis has advised the Mumbai Indians to reduce their heavy reliance on star pacer Jasprit Bumrah if they hope to achieve consistency in the ongoing Indian Premier League season.

Despite being widely regarded as Mumbai's biggest bowling asset, Bumrah has struggled to make an impact this season, going wicketless in the first four matches. The team, known for slow starts in previous editions, has already suffered three consecutive defeats after winning their opener, raising concerns about their overall balance.

Speaking after Mumbai's recent loss to Royal Challengers Bengaluru, where they conceded a massive total of 240 runs, du Plessis emphasized that the issue lies beyond Bumrah's contributions. He pointed out that while Bumrah typically delivers economical spells, the rest of the bowling unit has failed to contain runs, especially in high-scoring encounters.

Du Plessis suggested that Mumbai must rethink their strategy, ensuring Bumrah is used more effectively during crucial phases of the game rather than overburdening him. He also highlighted the importance of reassessing their approach in the Powerplay, possibly through tactical changes or by introducing fresh personnel to strengthen the attack.

Sports Ministry Pushes Dual-Squad Strategy for Hockey WC & Asian Games

NEW DELHI

The Union Sports Ministry has urged Hockey India to consider fielding two separate squads for the upcoming FIH Hockey World Cup and Asian Games, aiming to better manage player workload and maintain peak performance across both competitions.

The Hockey World Cup is scheduled to be held in Belgium and the Netherlands from August 15 to 30, followed closely by the Asian Games in Aichi-Nagoya, Japan, from September 19 to October 4. While the events do not overlap, the short gap between them has raised concerns over fatigue among key players in both the men's and women's teams.

Sources within the ministry believe India has sufficient depth to field two competitive sides, thereby reducing the burden on top players. Importantly, the Asian Games holds added significance as it serves as a direct qualifier for the 2028 Los Angeles Olympics, increasing the stakes for sending a full-strength squad.

"There should ideally be two teams, with the strongest squad prioritised for the Asian Games," a ministry source indicated, underlining the importance of securing Olympic qualification early.

However, the proposal has reportedly met resistance from national team coaches, including men's head coach Craig Fulton and women's coach Sjoerd Marijne, who are said to prefer maintaining a single core group for both tournaments to ensure consistency and team cohesion.

Hockey India Secretary General Bholanath Singh stated that no final decision has been taken yet. "We will send the best teams for both events. All aspects, including player fitness and scheduling, are being evaluated," he said.

The debate highlights a recurring challenge in international sport — balancing player workload with competitive ambitions during tightly packed calendars. With no hockey competition scheduled at the upcoming Commonwealth Games, some pressure on the calendar has eased, but the proximity of the World Cup and Asian Games still poses a significant challenge.

As discussions continue, the final call will be crucial in shaping India's medal prospects and long-term Olympic ambitions.

Sonam Finishes Fifth as India End Shooting World Cup with One Gold

NEW DELHI

Sonam Maskar produced a spirited performance but finished fifth in the women's 10m air rifle final as India wrapped up their campaign at the ISSF Shooting World Cup in Granada with a solitary gold medal.

Sonam registered a score of 188.5 in the final, bowing out after the 18th shot in the 24-shot contest. Despite showing resilience and composure under pressure, she fell short of securing a podium finish in a highly competitive field.

World No. 1 Wang Zifei clinched the gold medal with an impressive score of 252.9, while Norway's Jeanette Hegg Duestad took silver with 252.4. China's Han Jiayu secured bronze with 231.5.

Sonam had earlier qualified for the final in seventh place with a score of 632.8 in the qualification round. Fellow Indians Mehuli Ghosh and Shruti finished 44th and 63rd respectively in a field of 91 shooters.

In the final, Sonam began strongly with a 10.6 but followed it up with a 9.8, which proved costly in the long run. However, she showed remarkable grit, avoiding elimination multiple times, including a standout 10.9 on her 14th shot. Despite a solid finish with a 10.5, the deficit proved too large to overcome.

India's campaign saw participation in seven finals, but the only gold medal came on the opening day through the 10m air pistol mixed team event, where Mukesh Nelavalli and Palak delivered a winning performance.

In other events, Niraj Kumar shot 589 in the men's 50m rifle 3 positions qualification, while Akhil Sheoran scored 588, finishing outside the qualification zone. Chain Singh had exited earlier in the competition. While the campaign yielded limited medals, India's shooters displayed promise and depth, reaching multiple finals and gaining valuable experience ahead of upcoming international events.

Manoj Tiwary Vows Protest if Shreyas Iyer Is Ignored for India's T20I Squad

MUMBAI

Former India cricketer Manoj Tiwary has strongly backed Shreyas Iyer for a return to India's T20I setup, even vowing to "protest and fight" if the in-form batter continues to be overlooked by selectors.

Tiwary's remarks come after Iyer's match-winning unbeaten 69 for Punjab Kings against Sunrisers Hyderabad, further extending his impressive run in the Indian Premier League 2026 season. Iyer has been in exceptional touch since IPL 2025, where he captained Punjab Kings to the final, showcasing consistency and composure under pressure.

Speaking during a cricket discussion, Tiwary praised Iyer's ability to anchor innings and finish games, stressing that such qualities are crucial for India in the shortest format. "If even after this he is not selected, we will go and protest and fight for him," Tiwary said, underlining his frustration with the selection decisions.

He also pointed out that with senior players like Virat Kohli and Rohit Sharma stepping away from T20 internationals, India needs dependable middle-order batters like Iyer who can control the game and guide the team in high-pressure tournaments.

Echoing similar sentiments, former India opener Virender Sehwag expressed surprise over Iyer's exclusion from the previous T20 World Cup squad. He highlighted Iyer's track record of delivering match-winning performances consistently, both in franchise cricket and domestic competitions.

"Shreyas has been finishing games regularly. It was surprising he wasn't picked for the World Cup despite leading his team to the IPL final," Sehwag noted, adding that he hopes the batter secures a place in India's squad for upcoming global events. Iyer's current form, marked by calculated aggression and maturity, has reignited the debate around team selection and the importance of rewarding consistent performers.

BCCI Issues Notice to Rajasthan Royals Official Over Alleged Protocol Breach

MUMBAI

The Board of Control for Cricket in India has initiated an investigation into an alleged anti-corruption protocol breach involving a Rajasthan Royals official during an Indian Premier League 2026 match.

According to reports, Rajasthan Royals team manager Romi Bhinder has been served a notice by the BCCI's Anti-Corruption and Security Unit (ACSU) after he was seen using a mobile phone in the team dugout during a match against Royal Challengers Bengaluru. The incident, which surfaced through videos on social media, quickly sparked widespread attention and raised concerns over adherence to league protocols.

As per established anti-corruption guidelines, while certain team staff may be permitted to carry electronic devices under specific conditions, their usage during matches—especially from sensitive areas like the dugout—is strictly regulated. Bhinder has reportedly been given 48 hours to submit an explanation regarding the incident.

IPL Governing Council chairman Arun Dhimal confirmed that the matter has been referred to the ACSU for a detailed probe. The investigation aims to determine whether the phone usage violated any anti-corruption rules or posed a potential integrity risk.

Sources cited in reports suggest that Bhinder's possession of the phone may be linked to medical reasons. He has reportedly faced serious health issues in the past, including a lung condition, and is said to have been advised to limit physical exertion. This could explain why he kept the phone with him instead of frequently moving between the dugout and dressing room.

MI Stuck in Catch-Up Mode, Admits Hardik Pandya After Defeat

MUMBAI

Mumbai Indians captain Hardik Pandya conceded that his team has been playing catch-up cricket instead of controlling matches, following their defeat to Royal Challengers Bengaluru in the ongoing Indian Premier League 2026 season.

Chasing a daunting 240/4, powered by half-centuries from Phil Salt, Virat Kohli and skipper Ra-

Captain calls for urgent rethink as MI struggle to dictate games consistently jat Patidar, Mumbai Indians fell short at 222/5 despite a blistering unbeaten 71 off 31 balls by Sherfane Rutherford.

Reflecting on the loss, Pandya admitted that both the batting and bowling units have failed to assert dominance, leading to a pattern of reactive play. He pointed out that conceding such a massive total left the team with an uphill task from the outset.

"In the last few games, we've been catching up rather than leading. That's not helping us," Pandya said, acknowledging that the team's strategies have not yielded desired results. The defeat marked Mumbai's third loss of the season, pushing them down to eighth place on the points table.

Pandya emphasized the need for introspection, revealing that the team would use the short break to reassess tactics and explore new options. He hinted that both batting and bowling combinations could be revisited to find a more effective balance.

A key area of concern, according to the skipper, is the Powerplay phase. Mumbai Indians have struggled to gain momentum early, whether setting or chasing targets, allowing opponents to dictate terms. "We need to find ways to build momentum in the Powerplay. Right now, we're trying to catch up even in those crucial overs," he noted.

Despite the defeat, Pandya found positives in Rutherford's explosive innings, which he believes adds depth and flexibility to the lineup. His performance, Pandya said, provides confidence to experiment with combinations going forward.

Meanwhile, RCB skipper Patidar credited the strong start provided by Kohli and Salt, which laid the foundation for a commanding total and ultimately secured a comprehensive win.

Top-order brilliance powers Bengaluru to commanding total in Wankhede run-fest clash

RCB Revel in Run-Fest to Outgun Mumbai Indians in High-Scoring Thriller

MUMBAI

Defending champions Royal Challengers Bengaluru showcased their batting firepower in a high-scoring spectacle, defeating Mumbai Indians by 18 runs in the Indian Premier League 2026 at the Wankhede Stadium.

On a batting-friendly surface that offered little respite to bowlers, RCB piled up an imposing 240/4 — their fourth consecutive 200-plus total this season. The foundation was laid by a rare collective effort from their top three, with Phil Salt (78 off 36), Virat Kohli (50 off 38), and skipper Rajat Patidar (53 off 20) all registering contrasting yet impactful half-centuries.

Salt set the tone early with an explosive start, taking on the bowlers from the outset, while Kohli anchored the innings with composure. Patidar then accelerated dramatically, nearly recording one of the fastest fifties in league history, falling just short of matching Yashasvi Jaiswal's record.

RCB's dominance was evident in their partnerships, particularly the 120-run opening stand and a rapid middle-phase surge that left MI bowlers struggling. Multiple 20-run overs, including a brutal assault on the spinners, ensured the visitors maintained relentless pressure throughout the innings.

In reply, Mumbai Indians started positively, with Ryan Rickelton leading the charge and Rohit Sharma providing support before retiring hurt due to a hamstring issue. However, the momentum shifted when leg-spinner Suyash Sharma struck twice in a crucial over, dismissing Rickelton and Tilak Varma.

Middle-overs control from Suyash and Krunal Pandya proved decisive, as they contained big hitters like Suryakumar Yadav and Hardik Pandya.

With the required rate climbing steeply, MI struggled to keep pace despite a valiant unbeaten 71 off 31 balls by Sherfane Rutherford.

Ultimately, RCB's disciplined bowling in the middle overs and their explosive top-order batting sealed a comprehensive win. The victory marked their third in four matches, while Mumbai Indians slumped to their third straight defeat, continuing their inconsistent start to the season.
